MINE DISASTER — At least 24 persons were reported dead and many were missing after fire broke out in the workings of the Sunshine Mine at Kellogg, Idaho. The mine which is the nation's richest silver operation, reported the fire somewhere between the 3,100-foot and 3,700-foot levels.

Rescue Crews Seek 58 Trapped Miners

KELLOGG, Idaho (AP) — Sweating rescue teams struggled almost a mile underground today, trying to reach 58 miners still unheard from three days after smoke began filling the Sunshine silver mine.

Mine officials hoped they would find survivors, saying large amounts of air are being sent through breathing pipes that run through the mine.

Twenty-four persons were known to have died in the murky, hot shafts of the nation's richest and deepest silver producer.

Rescue workers sought to reach the mine's No. 10 hoist, a vertical elevator shaft they hoped would give access to the 4,600-foot level where the missing miners were believed to be, Sunshine officials said.

The director of the U.S. Bureau of Mines, Osborne Elbert, said at the scene that safety infractions found during mine inspections in 1970 and 1971 had been corrected as of last January and there was no reason to believe they were connected with the fire.

The New York Times said today in a story from its Washington bureau that reports to the Bureau of Mines showed that the mine had repeatedly failed to meet time limits for correcting safety hazards.

The Times said most of the unabated hazards involved failure to provide proper guards for compressors and similar equipment. It said the inspectors judged that none of the infractions cited in November and January was a hazard constituting an "imminent danger." A federal law authorizes federal inspectors to close mines immediately if they determine such dangers exist.

The pipe for the air system that mine officials hoped the trapped men were using runs through the mine shafts at chest level. Miners carry tube-like wrenches that enable them to tap into the line and breathe out air.

A mine spokesman said, however, that carbon monoxide the fire generated would be so concentrated that a man could be killed if he took his mouth from the tube.

Efforts to recover additional bodies were abandoned for a time Wednesday after the 11 bodies had been removed. Officials said efforts would be concentrated on reaching men still hoped to be alive.

Earlier, Stanley Jarrett, assistant director of the U.S. Bureau of Mines, said "welding was going on" where the fire began. Jarrett also said the cause of the fire "could also have been an electrical short."

Mine inspections in 1970 and 1971 had pointed out safety infractions related to railing and equipment guards, he said.

Jarrett's chief, Elbert, said he had "certainly considered this a safe mine."

After meeting with company officials, he said all mining operations at Sunshine would cease until an investigation is held.

The accident occurred in the driveway of the Glassford home. Police said that Oscar Glassford, 32, had started to back his car out of his driveway.

Ever since the enemy launched its offensive March

30, the South Vietnamese have been on the defensive, either retreating or barely holding onto positions.

The United States launched a top priority program to replace heavy South Vietnamese equipment losses sustained in a series of setbacks on the northern front and in the central highlands.

The first shipment of U.S.-made M48 tanks overhauled in Japan arrived at the northern city of Da Nang.

At the same time, a team of Pentagon experts flew to Saigon to insure that the South Vietnamese have adequate equipment to fight back against an arsenal of new Soviet-made weapons being used by the North Vietnamese.

The South Vietnamese paratroopers ran into enemy resistance shortly after being landed by helicopters and at dusk, fighting was still reported.

The Saigon command said fighting countrywide had slackened off to its lowest level of the North Vietnamese offensive. Sightings of truck convoys, however, indicated that the enemy was pausing again to regroup and resupply for another wave of assaults. The old imperial capital of Hue was believed the main target.

FDA Plans To Open Files For Inspection

Would Bare Much Formerly Secret Product Data

WASHINGTON (AP) — Conceding its long tradition of secrecy has become a legal and political pain in the neck, the Food and Drug Administration today announced plans to open its files to as much public inspection as the law allows.

Peter Hutt, the agency's general counsel, predicted the new policy would unlock about 90 per cent of information in FDA files, compared with the 10 per cent now available to the public.

But he cautioned, "This is not going to mean every piece of paper in the FDA is immediately going to be available."

The public-disclosure proposal, covering 58 typewritten pages, allows interested persons 60 days to comment after publication in the Federal Register. Spokesmen for the food and drug industries privately expressed alarm at the idea but withheld public statements until they have time to study the proposals.

Patterned in the spirit of the Freedom of Information Act, the FDA's open-files plan is believed to go further than any other federal regulatory agency's.

Basically, the FDA proposes to make public safety and effectiveness data for food additives, color additives, and anti-biotic, drugs unless companies can demonstrate the information should remain secret.

In the case of food and drug companies that already have submitted confidential material, the FDA said it would give them six months to justify continued secrecy.

Much of the drug information the FDA said, "is still highly valuable in that it gives the company having it a competitive advantage over others who are required by law to obtain it in order to receive FDA approval of a product or ingredient prior to marketing."

Hutt said the FDA has about 2,000 food-additive regulations and between 17,000 and 18,000 new-drug applications, many of them no longer containing valuable trade secrets.

Auto Costs Tabulated By Agency

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Highway Administration said today that although Americans spent more than $20 billion last year for new automobiles most of them don't know how much it costs to own and operate a car.

In its publication, "Cost of Operating an Automobile," the agency said the typical owner of a standard-size 1972 automobile will spend $13,553 to buy and operate the car for 10 years—an average of 13.55 cents a mile.

The owner of a 1972 compact car will pay $10,808, or 10.81 cents a mile over the 10-year, 100,000-mile period. The owner of a 1972 subcompact model will pay out $9,444, or 9.44 cents a mile over the decade from assembly line to junkyard.

"During this period, the standard-size-car owner will pay $2,787 for some 7,350 gallons of gasoline," the publication said. "He will pay $2,147 to keep the vehicle maintained and in repair, $1,350 to insure it, and over $1,800 for garaging, parking and tolls."

"His state and federal automotive-tax bill, most of which goes to support the roads he drives on, will amount to $1,319—about 9.7 per cent of total costs."

South Dakota senator would stand Humphrey "dead even." With 90 per cent of Ohio's 12,648 polling places tabulated, Humphrey had 38 at-large votes and 38 from eight congressional districts, while McGovern had 64 delegates from 13 congressional districts.

Thirteen other delegates were won by local favorite sons.

The split ticket vote, however, could change the vote totals, possibly dividing the results. These figures weren't expected until late today or perhaps Friday.

In another Tuesday primary, Humphrey defeated Gov. George Wallace of Alabama in Indiana, getting 47 per cent of the ballots cast and 55 of the 76 delegates to the national convention.

The Ohio primary was plagued by problems — polling places locked, voting machines not working, not enough paper ballots and claims of improper instructions to voters.

Freeze Order Hits Nation's Big Firms

Logan Elm, Laurelville Consolidation Discussed

Four boards of education met in Circleville Wednesday to discuss the pending revocation of Laurelville School District Charter and possible consolidation with Logan Elm.

The meeting was held in the office of the Pickaway County Board of Education, W. Franklin St. Boards attending included Pickaway, Hocking County, Laurelville School District and Logan Elm School District.

Tom Quick, assistant superintendent of public instruction, state department of education, emphasized that time was becoming of the essence in the revocation. He stated the problem was well known and the purpose of the meeting was to answer questions any of the four boards may have.

According to Quick, the State Board of Education will meet Monday and in all probability will confirm the revocation of the Laurelville Charter. When the charter is revoked, the Hocking County Board must find a "home" for the Laurelville students, in all probability, Logan Elm.

ARTER revocation, a 30-day waiting period will be allowed to give the residents of the Laurelville District an opportunity to circulate a remonstrance petition. This petition would allow the school district to vote on the direction of transfer, but not on the revocation of the charter it was emphasized at the meeting.

If for instance, the Hocking County Board feels the interest of the students can best be served by transferring the entire district to Logan Elm, by getting 55 per cent of the registered voters in the district to sign a petition, this decision can then be placed on the ballot.

There can be no remonstrance petition circulated by residents of the district to which Laurelville will be transferred.

The Hocking County and Laurelville Boards of Education are making a survey of the Benton Twp. area to see which direction residents of this community want their children to go to school.

However, it was the feeling of board members that Logan City Schools are already overcrowded and would not encourage any transfer of students.

Quick pointed out there are fringe areas of every school district in the state where students would be better served as far as transportation by going to a neighboring school district.

HE said consideration should be given these fringe families by the Hocking County Board when making the decision on transfer.

Logan Elm superintendent John Henn was concerned with the time element, stating the administration will need all the

Nation Pays Last Respects To FBI Director Hoover

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon today led the nation in last tributes to J. Edgar Hoover, calling him a giant, a legend and an American institution.

Nixon said the FBI, which Hoover spent 48 years building into a world-renowned law enforcement institution, will stand as a living memorial to Hoover.

And he called on Americans to live the spirit of law and order as a continuing tribute to Hoover.

"J. Edgar Hoover loved the law, his God," Nixon said. "He loved the law, his country. And he richly earned peace through all eternity."

Nixon delivered a eulogy to the fallen FBI chief at the National Presbyterian Church, where Hoover had been a deacon.

Hoover was found dead at his home Tuesday morning.

The 1,200-seat church was filled with presidential aides, Cabinet members, members of Congress, diplomats, and public mourners.

A MEETING for Water Safety Aid Teachers to help with the Red Cross summer swimming program will be held 8 p.m. Monday in the Red Cross Chapter House, Watt and Pickaway Sts.

FORTUNE a bounded Wednesday for Helen Myers, E. High, and her son-in-law, Lester Hashman. Hashman went fishing yesterday along a creek south off Route 104 and, after successfully snaring 35 rock bass, was returning through a marshy area when he came across a patch of mores. He came back to Circleville to pick up his mother-in-law and together they collected well over 100 fish to good-sized spring delicacies.

Gilligan said he had asked Hansen to resign his cabinet position and take the new job as part of a reassignment of responsibilities in his office.

The governor said Hansen had taken "the overwhelming welfare bureaucracy we inherited" and turned the Welfare Department into "an efficient, flexible and capable department."

Huddleston, whose daughter, Annette Gilly has also pleaded guilty and turned state's evidence in the slayings, is president of a UMW pensioners local in LaFollette, Tenn.

In a 22-page statement given the FBI, the ailing 63-year-old former coal miner asserted that two UMW officials helped obtain at least $15,000 from union coffers to finance the killings.

Named by Huddleston were Pass, 51, a member of the UMW's policy-making International Executive Board and secretary-treasurer of District 19 in the Kentucky-Tennessee area; and William J. Prater, 52, District 19 field representative. Both men have been charged in the slayings.

Wallace was expected to carry the state and most of the nine congressional districts and all of the 49 Tennessee delegates

Price Panel May Force Decreases

WASHINGTON (AP) — Prices charged by over half the nation's largest firms have been frozen, and the Price Commission is notifying the companies to file overdue reports or face price rollbacks and possible fines.

The commission, ordering the freeze Wednesday, estimated that nearly 1,600 firms have not filed reports on their economic status, the most recent of which were due Monday.

Chairman C. Jackson Grayson said the commission also will notify each delinquent firm that unless it files a report within five working days, the commission will cut its prices and ask the Justice Department to take court action that could lead to fines of up to $2,500.

Commission rules generally require firms with more than $50 million in yearly sales to file reports every three months. Firms that raise prices must give details, and firms that haven't must say so.

By last Monday, all such firms should have filed at least one report. Grayson estimated there are 2,954 firms required to file reports, but that only 1,375 have done so. He did not name the delinquent ones, but a commission spokesman said a list would be released in a few days.

Grayson also said the commission decided this week not to change regulations exempting food prices from President Nixon's economic controls, but will ask for stepped-up enforcement of existing rules and will watch food supplies closely to forecast possible problems.

The commission held public hearings on food costs a few weeks ago, and Grayson said action would be taken unless a sharp rise in food prices slackened. Since then, Grayson said, the commission has seen "sufficient easing" in food prices.

He announced also that the commission reaffirmed its rule limiting firms that desire to raise prices to specific profit margins. But it rejected, 4 to 2, a proposal to apply the profit margin limit to firms that have held prices steady, he said.

Thieu Orders Terrorists Shot

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu today ordered police in South Vietnam's cities and towns to "shoot on the spot" anyone engaging in terrorism or public disturbances.

The order, issued to military region commanders and province and district chiefs, was aimed at preventing enemy terrorism and maintaining public order during the North Vietnamese offensive. Allied intelligence officials have enemy documents which indicate the Viet Cong plan terrorism and civil disruptions as a later phase of the offensive.

South Vietnamese and U.S. officials also are concerned about keeping order among the population if the fighting continues to go against Saigon's forces.

Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower sat near the President, Vice President Spiro T. Agnew attended.

"One of the tragedies of life is that as a rule a man's true greatness is recognized only in death," Nixon said. "J. Edgar Hoover was one of the rare exceptions to that rule. He became a living legend while still a young man and he lived up to that legend as the decades passed."

Nixon said Hoover personified integrity, honor, principle, courage, discipline, dedication, loyalty and patriotism.

"We can pay him no greater tribute than to live these virtues," he said. "To love the law as he loved it and to give full cooperation to the law enforcement profession which he did so much to advance."

The service was nationally broadcast live on radio and television.

A private burial service was planned today in Congressional Cemetery, only a few blocks from Hoover's boyhood home and not far from the Capitol where his body lay in state for 24 hours.

In the Capitol Rotunda Wednesday, Hoover was eulogized by Chief Justice Warren E. Burger as a man who "epitomized the American dream of patriotism, dedication to duty and successful attainment."

On Wednesday thousands filed past the closed, flag-draped coffin resting on the same catafalque used at the Capitol since the assassination of President Abraham Lincoln. Only 21 men, eight of them presidents, have been similarly honored. Only Hoover was a civil servant.

Trace Payoff For Slayings

2 UMW Officials Are Implicated

WASHINGTON, Pa. (AP) — Special Prosecutor Richard Sprague says subsequent testimony will reveal how the money used to finance the Yablonski family slayings was funneled from the United Mine Workers Union national treasury.

Sprague, who commented after Silas Huddleston pleaded guilty to murder and conspiracy charges and turned state's evidence in the case Wednesday, said the money apparently was piped into a special research and information fund in the UMW's District 19.

"We have certain information that it (the fund) was set up at a conference between Tony Boyle and Albert Pass," Sprague said.

He declined to comment on whether he believed Boyle, the embattled president of the UMW, knew the purpose for which the money was allegedly intended. When pressed, he said only:

"I did not say that there is any evidence at this time for an arrest of Mr. Boyle."

Huddleston was charged in the Dec. 31, 1969, killings of UMW insurgent Joseph A. "Jock" Yablonski and his wife and daughter, who were shot to death in their Clarksville, Pa., home.

Huddleston, whose daughter, Annette Gilly has also pleaded guilty and turned state's evidence in the slayings, is president of a UMW pensioners local in LaFollette, Tenn.

In a 22-page statement given the FBI, the ailing 63-year-old former coal miner asserted that two UMW officials helped obtain at least $15,000 from union coffers to finance the killings.

Rescue Crews Seek 58 Trapped Miners

KELLOGG, Idaho (AP) — Sweating rescue teams struggled almost a mile underground today, trying to reach 58 miners still unheard from three days after smoke began filling the Sunshine silver mine.

Mine officials hoped they would find survivors, saying large amounts of air are being sent through breathing pipes that run through the mine.

Twenty-four persons were known to have died in the murky, hot shafts of the nation's richest and deepest silver producer.

Rescue workers sought to reach the mine's No. 10 hoist, a vertical elevator shaft they hoped would give access to the 4,600-foot level where the missing miners were believed to be, Sunshine officials said.

The director of the U.S. Bureau of Mines, Osborne Elburt, said at the scene that safety infractions found during mine inspections in 1970 and 1971 had been corrected as of last January and there was no reason to believe they were connected with the fire.

The New York Times said today in a story from its Washington bureau that reports to the Bureau of Mines showed that the mine had repeatedly failed to meet time limits for correcting safety hazards.

The Times said most of the unabated hazards involved failure to provide proper guards for compressors and similar equipment. It said the inspectors judged that none of the infractions cited in November and January was a hazard constituting an "imminent danger." A federal law authorizes federal inspectors to close mines immediately if they determine such dangers exist.

The pipe for the air system that mine officials hoped the trapped men were using runs through the mine shafts at chest level. Miners carry tube-like wrenches that enable them to tap into the line and breathe out air.

A mine spokesman said, however, that carbon monoxide the fire generated would be so concentrated that a man could be killed if he took his mouth from the tube.

Efforts to recover additional bodies were abandoned for a time Wednesday after the 11 bodies had been removed. Officials said efforts would be concentrated on reaching men still hoped to be alive.

Earlier, Stanley Jarrett, assistant director of the U.S. Bureau of Mines, said "welding was going on" where the fire began. Jarrett also said the cause of the fire "could also have been an electrical short."

Mine inspections in 1970 and 1971 had pointed out safety infractions related to railing and equipment guards, he said.

Jarrett's chief, Elburt, said he had "certainly considered this a safe mine."

After meeting with company officials, he said all mining operations at Sunshine would cease until an investigation is held.

Red Offensive Slows In Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese troops launched their first counterattack today since the enemy began an offensive 36 days ago. At the same time, the government and the United States began a crash program aimed at reversing military defeats.

Several hundred South Vietnamese paratroopers made a combat assault in the central highlands in an effort to clear North Vietnamese from the Chu Pa mountain pass on Highway 14 between Kontum and Pleiku. They sought to open the highway, a vital supply route.

Field reports said 40 North Vietnamese troops had been killed in the initial fighting.

Associated Press correspondent David J. Paine reported from Pleiku that the combat assault was made eight miles south of Kontum and 19 miles north of Pleiku.

The South Vietnamese paratroopers ran into enemy resistance shortly after being landed by helicopters and at dusk, fighting was still reported.

The Saigon command said fighting countrywide had slackened off to its lowest level of the North Vietnamese offensive. Sightings of truck convoys, however, indicated that the enemy was pausing again to regroup and resupply for another wave of assaults. The old imperial capital of Hue was believed the main target.

Ever since the enemy launched its offensive March

30, the South Vietnamese have been on the defensive, either retreating or barely holding onto positions.

The United States launched a top priority program to replace heavy South Vietnamese equipment losses sustained in a series of setbacks on the northern front and in the central highlands.

The first shipment of U.S.-made M48 tanks overhauled in Japan arrived at the northern city of Da Nang.

At the same time, a team of Pentagon experts flew to Saigon to insure that the South Vietnamese have adequate equipment to fight back against an arsenal of new Soviet-made weapons being used by the North Vietnamese.

Infant Girl Crushed By Automobile Wheel

BATAVIA, Ohio (AP)—Services were being arranged today for 11-month-old Shelly Glassford who was crushed to death Wednesday under a rear wheel of her father's car.

The accident occurred in the driveway of the Glassford home. Police said that Oscar Glassford, 32, had started to back his car out of his driveway.

South Dakota senator would stand Humphrey "dead even."

With 90 per cent of Ohio's 12,648 polling places tabulated, Humphrey had 38 at-large votes and 38 from eight congressional districts, while McGovern had 64 delegates from 13 congressional districts.

Thirteen other delegates were won by local favorite sons.

The split ticket vote, however, could change the vote totals, possibly dividing the results. These figures weren't expected until late today or perhaps Friday.

In another Tuesday primary, Humphrey defeated Gov. George Wallace of Alabama in Indiana, getting 47 per cent of the ballots cast and 55 of the 76 delegates to the national convention.

The Ohio primary was plagued by problems — polling places locked, voting machines not working, not enough paper ballots and claims of improper instructions to voters.

The primary troubles sparked two suits—both in U.S. District Court in Cleveland—center of Cuyahoga County and the main problem area.

A federal judge in Cleveland hears a request today to impound Cuyahoga ballots and have them counted by federal marshals. The other suit seeks to void the county election.

Tennessee holds its first presidential primary today. Wallace was expected to win all of the state's 49 Democratic delegates.

North Carolina's primary is Saturday. That election has narrowed to a contest between Wallace and Terry Sanford, former North Carolina governor.

Wallace was expected to carry the state and most of the nine congressional districts and all of the 49 Tennessee dele-

Judge Rejects McGovern Suit; Rules No Jurisdiction

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A federal judge ruled today that he has no jurisdiction in a suit filed on behalf of a Democratic presidential candidate involving the Cuyahoga County voting foulup in Tuesday's primary election.

Frank J. Battisti, chief judge of the U.S. District Court in Cleveland, said that since there was no claim of fraud, impropriety or an intentional denial of the right to vote, the case on behalf of U.S. Sen. George S. McGovern of South Dakota should be taken to county common pleas court.

Appearing in court for the hearing were Joseph Cipollone, director of the county board of elections, and board members John J. Carney, Anthony Groff, Saul G. Stillman and Robert Hughes.

Howard Metzbaum, Cleveland attorney and businessman, represented the McGovern supporters in the suit. The suit had asked for the impounding of ballots, ballot boxes and voting machines for tabulation by federal marshals.

The judge did not rule on a motion by Cipollone to allow reopening of 16 polling places where machines did not operate at all Tuesday.

Cipollone asked that the polling places throughout the county be reopened Friday from 6:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m.—normal voting hours under state law.

Battisti said Friday was too early and suggested a Monday might be better. He said he would rule later on the motion. Cipollone said the request was for the "purpose of remedying this unintentional deprivation of voting rights of registered voters in these precincts."

Metzbaum said the suit did not claim "fraud or impropriety on the part of board members or any individual." He said the plaintiffs were not seeking an invalidation of the election, just the impounding of voting materials.

He did not say if the matter would be taken to the common pleas court.

Battisti said Friday was to case differed from the one filed on behalf of Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey Tuesday which brought about the extension of voting hours from 6:30 p.m. to 11:30 p.m.

The judge said that the Humphrey case brought numerous indications that people would be denied their constitutional right to vote if the hours had not been extended.

time possible to plan for the consolidation.

Hocking County Superintendent James Frey said Logan Elm would probably be safe in beginning to plan to accommodate the district immediately following the Hocking County Board's announcement, which is expected next week, following the survey of Benton Twp. residents.

Tentative plans by the LE administration indicate with the acceptance of the district, Laureville High School students will be brought to Logan Elm High School. Grades one through eight will be at Laureville.

At Logan Elm, the seventh, eighth and ninth grades will be in one building and grades 10, 11, and 12 in the other. Although there is not enough room at Logan Elm for the Laureville seventh and eighth grades, the quality of courses offered will be the same.

Some bus routes may be longer, but the time of travel will not be increased, Henn said.

IN answer to a question raised by Henn, Quick said the level of state support to consolidating districts is guaranteed for three years to help the schools financially through the consolidation period.

If the districts become entitled to more state aid, as will be the case with the Laureville-Logan Elm consolidation, they will benefit from the increased aid as soon as consolidation begins.

If Laureville consolidates with Logan Elm, the Laureville District taxpayers will assume the Logan Elm operating millage. The bonded indebtedness of both districts will be recomputed.

There were no objections offered by any member of the four boards to a proposed Logan Elm-Laureville Consolidation.

L. Patrick Gray Named Head Of FBI On Temporary Basis

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dampening the potential fireworks of an election year debate over the FBI, President Nixon has chosen only a temporary replacement for the late J. Edgar Hoover who ran the agency for 48 years.

Nixon appointed L. Patrick Gray III, an assistant attorney general, as acting FBI director Wednesday and said no permanent appointment will be submitted to the Senate until after the Nov. 7 election.

In following this course, Nixon avoids a replay of the still-smoldering furor over his last major appointment, that of Richard G. Kleindienst to be attorney general.

Gray will not have to be confirmed by the Senate as acting director as would any candidate Nixon named for the job on a permanent basis.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon will not nominate a permanent FBI chief until after the election because "he doesn't want it (the choice of a successor) considered in the middle of an election year" and perhaps become the subject of partisan debate.

Last Feb. 15, Nixon elevated Kleindienst from deputy attorney general to the top Justice Department position and moved Gray up to the No. 2 job.

Neither nomination has been acted upon by the Senate, and Gray's appointment so he may hold down both the FBI helm and his present job as head of the department's civil-rights division at the lower salary of the latter, $38,000.

There is little doubt that no matter who Nixon would choose to succeed Hoover, the committee liberals would have forced the bureau to face the most thorough public investigation in its history.

Gray, 55, a career Navy officer until he retired in 1960 to practice law and politics, has been a Nixon friend for a decade. He served eight years as a special assistant to Nixon as vice president.

A graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy, the balding Gray spent 20 years as an officer in the Navy's submarine service, with a break to earn a law degree at George Washington University. Upon retiring in 1960, he joined the Nixon campaign staff.

He joined the present administration in 1969 as an executive assistant to the secretary of Health, Education and Welfare before being given the Justice Department post.

Judge Rejects McGovern Suit; Rules No Jurisdiction

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A federal judge ruled today that he has no jurisdiction in a suit filed on behalf of a Democratic presidential candidate involving the Cuyahoga County voting fiasco in Tuesday's primary election.

Frank J. Battisti, chief judge of the U.S. District Court in Cleveland, said that since there was no claim of fraud, impropriety or an intentional denial of the right to vote, the case on behalf of U.S. Sen. George S. McGovern of South Dakota should be taken to county common pleas court.

Appearing in court for the hearing were Joseph Cipollone, director of the county board of elections, and board members John J. Carney, Anthony Groff, Saul G. Stillman and Robert Hughes.

Howard Metzgerbaum, Cleveland attorney and businessman, represented the McGovern supporters in the suit. The suit had asked for the impounding of ballots, ballot boxes and voting machines for tabulation by federal marshals.

The judge did not rule on a motion by Cipollone to allow reopening of 16 polling places where machines did not operate at all Tuesday.

Cipollone asked that the polling places throughout the county be reopened Friday from 6:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m.—normal voting hours under state law.

He did not say if the matter would be taken to the common pleas court.

Battisti said Friday was to case differed from the one filed on behalf of Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey Tuesday which brought about the extension of voting hours from 6:30 p.m. to 11:50 p.m.

The judge said that the Humphrey case brought numerous indications that people would be denied their constitutional right to vote if the hours had not been extended.

L. Patrick Gray Named Head Of FBI On Temporary Basis

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dampening the potential fireworks of an election year debate over the FBI, President Nixon has chosen only a temporary replacement for the late J. Edgar Hoover who ran the agency for 48 years.

Nixon appointed L. Patrick Gray III, an assistant attorney general, as acting FBI director Wednesday and said no permanent appointment will be submitted to the Senate until after the Nov. 7 election.

In following this course, Nixon avoids a replay of the still-smoldering furor over his last major appointment, that of Richard G. Kleindienst to be attorney general.

Gray will not have to be confirmed by the Senate as acting director as would any candidate Nixon named for the job on a permanent basis.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon will not nominate a permanent FBI chief until after the election because "he doesn't want it (the choice of a successor) considered in the middle of an election year" and perhaps become the subject of partisan debate.

Last Feb. 15, Nixon elevated Kleindienst from deputy attorney general to the top Justice Department position and moved Gray up to the No. 2 job.

Neither nomination has been acted upon by the Senate, and Gray's appointment so he may Gay's appointment so he may hold down both the FBI helm and his present job as head of the department's civil-rights division at the lower salary of the latter, $38,000.

There is little doubt that no matter who Nixon would choose to succeed Hoover, the committee liberals would have forced the bureau to face the most thorough public investigation in its history.

Gray, 55, a career Navy officer until he retired in 1960 to practice law and politics, has been a Nixon friend for a decade. He served eight years as a special assistant to Nixon as vice president.

A graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy, the balding Gray spent 20 years as an officer in the Navy's submarine service, with a break to earn a law degree at George Washington University. Upon retiring in 1960, he joined the Nixon campaign staff.

He joined the present administration in 1969 as an executive assistant to the secretary of Health, Education and Welfare before being given the Justice Department post.

Kiwanis Hears Report On Enforcement

Highway accidents and their causes were discussed with Ashville Kiwanis members at their meeting Tuesday night.

Deputy Sheriff David Cooper of the Pickaway County force presented the slide program, offering Kiwanians the advice that most accidents in this county are the result of high speed and driver losing control of his vehicle.

Deputy Cooper explained that the sheriff's department involves more than patrolling county roads. Several thousand miles are driven each month to deliver various kinds of legal notices and papers. The staff also investigates breaking and enterings, domestic troubles, theft and other types of calls.

The Pickaway County Sheriff Department, Cooper noted, has teletype connections to computer facilities in Columbus and Washington for verification of suspicious persons or vehicles.

The department is aided by over 20 auxiliary deputies who donate their time and contribute equipment for department use.

During the business portion of the meeting, President Rodger Southward announced May 23 as the Ladies Night meeting. Guests will be members of the Fairfield Kiwanis Club and their wives.

Larry Toole, reported that May 30 the club would make a trip to Cedar Cottage at TICO.

Visitors Tuesday were Don Warner and Bruce Bell of the Circleville Club.

Galbraith, DiSalle Blast Controls Setup

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Two men who formerly headed federal wage and price control programs say the Nixon administration's program is a failure.

The men, John Kenneth Galbraith, Harvard economics professor, and former Ohio Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, addressed a meeting of the American Marketing Association in Cleveland Tuesday.

Galbraith, former deputy administrator of the Office of Price Administration in World War II, said Nixon was running monetary controls "like a popularity contest," adding that unless rigid controls were imposed, prices would skyrocket. DiSalle, now practicing law in Washington, said: "Controls can't be enforced with a magic wand and price increases shouldn't be granted unless there is demonstrable hardship."

DiSalle, director of the Office of Economic Stabilization during the Korean War, said there has not been adequate enforcement since the controls were started in August.

Galbraith also said the nation was losing its foreign trade advantages because the country's consumer goods plants were operating with obsolete equipment.

He said this has resulted because the United States has invested in defense, the space program and the Vietnam War instead of investing in domestic needs.

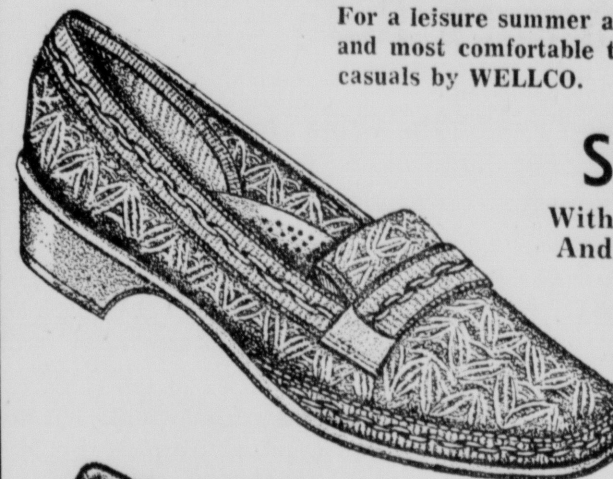

"The Japanese and Germans have not had to do this and that is why they have the capital for investment in their consumer goods industries."

NEW YORK (AP) — "The Flying Nun," a bit of comedy fluff that soared—often a bit on the wobbly side—though four ABC seasons during the fantasy vogue, is earning a bachelor's degree and has already built a house for one of its costars.

Madeleine Sherwood, a Methodist minister's granddaughter who played a dry, permissive mother superior in the series, will be opening next week in Joseph Papp's off Broadway production, "Older People."

But her television experience opened avenues to new experiences and gave her financial security.

"The Flying Nun," after its network run, moved into syndication where it is shown on independent stations. Under current actors' contracts, performers share in rerun profits of television series, payments called "residuals."

"It is around $10,000 a year," said Miss Sherwood. "When I was working on the show, I was putting most of my money into building a home on family land, in the mountains and on a lake about 40 miles north of Montreal. Now I hope to build a theater in human relations there and make it the nucleus of a workshop."

"People kept telling me that a television series for an actor was like an annuity, but I never quite believed it. By the second year of the series—I was in Hollywood eight months of the year working—I was beginning to feel stir-crazy, just working and living in a hotel. I went to Esalen in Big Sur for a weekend, and that was the beginning."

She continued to attend Esalen workshops, studying the humanist psychology movement, joining encounter groups. Since her return to New York she has been studying full time at the G.R.O.W. Institute and will soon receive her B.A. degree in Human relations from Indiana Northern University of which G.R.O.W. is an affiliate.

The actress hopes to be certified soon as a group counselor and be able to work, under a doctor's supervision, in hospitals and schools. Meanwhile, those "Flying Nun" residuals give her that rare privilege for a performer: to work only in roles that challenge and interest her.

Galbraith, DiSalle Blast Controls Setup

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Two men who formerly headed federal wage and price control programs say the Nixon administration's program is a failure.

The men, John Kenneth Galbraith, Harvard economics professor, and former Ohio Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, addressed a meeting of the American Marketing Association in Cleveland Tuesday.

Galbraith, former deputy administrator of the Office of Price Administration in World War II, said Nixon was running monetary controls "like a popularity contest," adding that unless rigid controls were imposed, prices would skyrocket. DiSalle, now practicing law in Washington, said: "Controls can't be enforced with a magic wand and price increases shouldn't be granted unless there is demonstrable hardship."

DiSalle, director of the Office of Economic Stabilization during the Korean War, said there has not been adequate enforcement since the controls were started in August.

Galbraith also said the nation was losing its foreign trade advantages because the country's consumer goods plants were operating with obsolete equipment. He said this has resulted because the United States has invested in defense, the space program and the Vietnam War instead of investing in domestic needs.

"The Japanese and Germans have not had to do this and that is why they have the capital for investment in their consumer goods industries."

The Payroll Savings Plan is for people who can't save a buck.

Ever notice how your paycheck sort of slips through your fingers before you get around to stashing a little away for the future?

Ever have a dream about a vacation, or a cottage you want, or a college fund you're going to build for your kids... then wake up ten years later just to find out you're no closer to making your dream come true than you were when you first had it?

You're not alone. Everybody has trouble saving a buck these days. And, that's why there's a Payroll Savings Plan. Sign up where you work and an amount you specify will be set aside from each paycheck and used to buy U.S. Savings Bonds. Before you can get your hands on it. Before you can spend it.

It won't be too long before you have a nice nest egg built up, a bankroll that's really worth something. Join the Payroll Savings Plan. It's helped a lot of people... just like you.

New U.S. Bonds pay 8 1/2% interest when held to maturity of 6 years, 10 months (4% the first year). Bonds are replaced if lost, stolen, or destroyed. When needed they can be cashed at your bank. Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes, and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

Take stock in America.
Join the Payroll Savings Plan.

The Return Secrecy

Most United States taxpayers feel secure in the belief that the confidential information they send to Washington each year in the form of an income tax return remains as well guarded against unauthorized scrutiny as the minutes of a meeting of the National Security Council.

They are probably correct in this assumption. But the list of persons and setups "authorized" to peruse tax returns has grown to include almost any government agency or official.

In addition, the head of any government agency may look at any specific return. State officials, at the request of a governor, may also examine all returns filed within their states and specific returns filed elsewhere.

Some committees of Congress have blanket authority to dig into tax returns. Others may request, and frequently do, special permission to look at certain records.

Only private individuals are barred from scrutinizing income tax returns, and they may look at corporate records if they own one per cent or more of that corporation's stock.

Obviously, the stamp of secrecy which frequently prevents the public from learning of the affairs of government takes on an unusual lack of importance when applied to confidential personal information. This is a double standard not many taxpayers will appreciate.

Vice President's Role

Although the axiom still holds that the vice presidency of the U.S. is what the president chooses to make of it, it has become almost traditional for each president since F. D. Roosevelt to make more of it than his predecessor. No longer is the second highest office in the land a haven for political exiles.

Long widely regarded as an honorary impasse from which few emerged with a brilliant political future, the vice presidency has evolved in recent decades into a sort of presidential stand-in. With the growth of U.S. entanglements in world affairs and alliances, the president no longer is capable of personally overseeing all the important duties of his office.

While the White House certainly does not lack aides to handle the details of government, more and more decisions require the authority of the chief executive. Not even a cabinet member can be delegated this authority, but a vice president can handle most such tasks.

Such important duties within an administration as participating in the National Security Council, and occasionally presiding over it, personally representing the president in diplomatic negotiations with heads of state, and taking charge of the president's most urgent programs in domestic affairs are stepping stones to the presidency.

Invasion Nonsense

By JEFFERY HART

Guess who is turning out to be the villain of the invasion of South Vietnam. Is it General Giap? — whose advancing troops have already created a quarter of a million refugees, and who thinks nothing of turning his artillery and rocket launchers on civilians in the towns and cities.

No, the villain is not General Giap. It's Richard Nixon. He wears the black hat. For he has had the consummate villainy to respond to the invasion by bombing military — yes, military — targets in the North.

Anthony Lewis, who writes a column from London for the New York Times, interrupted his rhapsodies of Anglophilia to comment on the invasion, viz., "For the truth is now impossible to escape if we open our eyes. The United States is the most dangerous and destructive power in the world." Nixon's policy "passes mistake and approaches crime."

Those who do have their eyes open may be tempted to rub them.

To be sure, Mr. Lewis does admit the North Vietnamese are in fact attacking South Vietnam, but from his sensitive moral perspective, that is strictly a hohum. "Of course," he writes — as if to say that the fact is too obvious and boring to dwell on, "Of course the Communists are fighting the war, too, and attacking in the South, and killing human beings." If, having read that sentence, you sense that the next word is going to be "but," well you are used to the rhythms of liberal rhetoric. "But they are doing so in what they regard as their own country, for a genuine cause, and at immense sacrifice to themselves."

On this last sentence a few marginal notes: 1) The introductory "but" means that what follows it somehow mitigates the invasion — and yet why it should do so is not very obvious. 2) Whether South Vietnam is the North Vietnamese Communists' "own country" or, instead, someone else's, happens to be what the war is all about. Mr. Lewis, however, graciously concedes the Communists' claim to it. The ease with which he redraws frontiers and gives away entire populations is little short of breathtaking. 3) One pauses uneasily over his statement that the North Vietnamese are fighting for a "genuine cause." Does his "genuine" mean "valid" or even "admirable"? Or does it merely mean, neutrally, one which they are willing to fight for? And, if it is the latter, why is their desire to communicate the South more "genuine" than the desire of the Southerners not to be communicated? Such questions drop right through the moral and intellectual lacunae in Mr. Lewis' schmaltzy prose.

A final touch of goofiness comes in this sentence: "How different the moral equation would be if the officials and generals who give the bombing orders ever found their own lives at risk."

Why would the "moral equation" be changed if Melvin Laird rode along on a B-52? It is not recorded that Moscow and Hanoi politburos are fighting in Quang Tri Province. On the other hand, as is well known, Herman Goering did sometimes accompany the Luftwaffe on bombing runs over England. Did that really improve the moral equation?

Mr. Lewis, clearly is confused; and, if his were an isolated case, such confusion would merely be amusing.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

by LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

At what age should a family begin to worry if their child is not growing as rapidly as his peers? What would be the course of action to take?

Mr. and Mrs. B. L. M., Ohio Dear Mr. and Mrs. M: There is no special age for parents to begin to "worry". Instead, parents should be aware that a problem exists and that it should be investigated early instead of being deliberately overlooked.

Acceleration of growth usually takes place during adolescence but it varies in children of the same age. It may even vary in children in the same family.

The major reasons for a delay in growth may be chronic illness of the kidneys, the heart or the lungs that interferes with the absorption and the use of necessary nutrients.

Nutritional factors are of extreme importance in areas of general impoverishment where the proteins, minerals, vitamins and nutrients are inadequate.

Probably the most significant reason for growth failure in children is a disturbance or an imbalance of the endocrine or hormone system. There are of course hereditary factors, too.

All of these conditions must be given early consideration to track down the basic cause and to remedy it as readily as possible. This is imperative if the child is to be spared the embarrassment and the stigma that often goes with being "the smallest in the class." With modern endocrine and hormone replacement, it is remarkable how many children can attain proper growth levels.

When first it is suspected that a child is not keeping up with his peers, that is the ideal time to seek the doctor's opinion and begin necessary treatment.

I have always thought that the condition "thrush" happens only to children. My husband had it and no one seems to know how he developed it.

Mrs. S. D., Ga. Dear Mrs. D: Undoubtedly thrush does occur more often in children than in adults. It is the result of an infection with the fungus, albicans. The mouth, the tongue, the palate, the gums and the tonsils are covered by a milky white film which sticks tenaciously to the surface.

It is now seen more frequently, than formerly, in adults who have been sucking on lozenges that contain antibiotics. The antibiotics in these lozenges upset the normal balance in the mouth between germs and the fungus and can produce thrush or other types of fungus infections. It is for this reason that antibiotic lozenges should be avoided.

Thrush is not a serious condition and disappears readily with little treatment.

According To Boyle

By ROBERT E. FORD (For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP) — At least one in every 100 living Americans has had a stroke and survived.

I joined this growing two million-plus group a little over six weeks ago.

The one question everyone asks a stroke victim is, "What did it feel like?" Well, in my case, it didn't feel like anything. Nothing.

I'm afraid it wasn't dramatic at all. There was no premonition or warning of any kind. I felt no lightning bolt of pain. Or even a twinge. No confusion. No fainting or falling down. No outcry. No paralysis or numbness.

But when the phone rang on my desk late in the afternoon of March 16, I noticed as I answered it that my voice suddenly was slurring. Having been a hypochondriac since shortly before birth, my mind instantly jumped to the right conclusion: I had had a slight stroke ... and might be in the grip of a continuing one.

"How many martinis did you have at lunch?" my friend remarked. "You sound like you had four."

"None," I told him truthfully. "You know I've been on a temperance binge since the first of the year."

After hanging up, I went out to the office washroom mirror and studied my face. I found I could wrinkle my brows and move both eyes freely. No pain. No feeling of weakness or numbness or lack of coordination in hands, legs or feet.

There did seem to be a slight downward turn at the left corner of my mouth, but hardly enough to dent the winning charm of my manly dimple.

I went home and decided not to do anything until morning, which could have been a deadly mistake but wasn't. When I awoke, the bathroom mirror confirmed the definite turn-down at the corner of my mouth, and a short rendition aloud of the Gettysburg Address sounded like Abraham Lincoln full of martinis. But it was no worse. The stroke was over.

After going to the office and writing my daily column, I reported to the company nurse and doctor who found my blood pressure was still in the gasket-blowing range—180 over 140. It should have been 130 or 140 over 80.

Three hours later, I was in a hospital next to the room in which a famous movie star several years before had been treated successfully for his occupational ailment—delirium tremens.

I spent the afternoon drawing up a new will and spent the evening—without the knowledge or consent of my doctor—drinking Irish whiskey with several grieving friends. They had gathered there largely, I believe, in the hope that since it was St. Patrick's Day, I would surely reward them by making an immortal deathbed utterance. I made several, as a matter of fact, but nobody bothered to take notes.

I awoke with my first hangover of 1972, one I am beginning to suspect will be the last one of my life.

There followed 15 days of complete bed rest during which they tested everything except my I.Q.—an oversight—and took enough blood from me to give Dracula a bubble bath. Heart action okay. No diabetes. No gold stars for the liver, but blood pressure going steadily down, down, down.

Then, I had a few weeks of recuperation, which is a medical word for loafing. Last week I made a mistake.

I went to the boss and bragged that I was the only one on his staff at the moment with medical proof that he had a normal brain. This was because a cephalogram of my head taken the day before showed no rocks but only explainable routine waves.

"I didn't know we had a brain like that left in the organization," acknowledged the boss. "Do you think it would hurt it if we put it back to work for a change?"

So, one stroke and a little more than six weeks later, here I am back at the typewriter.

A few words of counsel:

For nearly 20 years I have had high blood pressure and carried up to 40 pounds too much weight, the equivalent of lugging around three bowling balls day and night. But I stupidly resisted the doctors' plea to do anything about either.

Now my blood pressure is normal and I have taken off 25 pounds with 15 yet to go.

"You have had your warning," my doctor said. "How long you live now depends pretty much on whether you learned your lesson."

The same is probably true of most of the 30 million Americans who are overweight and the 20 million who have high blood pressure, of whom 10 million are unaware they have.

Living on a sensible diet and taking two pills a day doesn't seem like too high a price to pay for doubling or tripling your chances for a longer life. An even more immediate reward: You feel better right away and have more energy with which to enjoy life.

Try it—you'll like it, or I'll give you your money back.

I would like to close by thanking many friends and readers across the country who sent me kind messages of encouragement during my illness. It is nice to return to a world in which you feel welcomed. I also am grateful to the writers who wrote substitute columns during my absence, but do wish they hadn't all been quite so clever.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Always looking ahead, because that's where the money is, Wall Street suddenly has been surprised from the rear by those Phase 2 controls on profit margins.

The mystery is why it should have been surprised, because the limitations were in effect ever since the end of the 90-day freeze last November. They weren't highly publicized, but they did exist.

The most significant of these regulations clearly limits the margin of profits on sales to the average of the best two of the past three years, and calls for price rollbacks, penalties and even rebates if the rate is exceeded.

Still when those scintillating income reports for the first quarter were released there were few analysts in Wall Street who bothered to ask if they were in violation of the guidelines.

A search through many of them revealed no mention at all. And the very few who showed concern ended by downplaying the impact of the guidelines. Nobody seemed worried.

As it now appears, a good many of the profits' statements are in violation. C. Jackson Grayson, Price Commission chairman, estimates that 10 per cent of early returns for the first quarter fall into that category.

In addition, it seems that a good many companies were as indifferent to the matter of guidelines as was Wall Street in ignoring the potential impact on prices. They filed late or failed to file completely.

What Grayson has reminded industry is that it can no longer take the easy but inflationary way to profits, that it cannot hope to make its income statement look good simply by raising prices.

Instead, it must earn those profits by increasing its sales. Any company able and willing to sell more can continue to show bigger profit figures. Selling, however, is hard work, much harder than changing price tags.

The realization stunned The Street—five months delayed.

What has become clear from this misunderstanding is that a brand new measure of corporate health must be used by stock analysts. The profit-sales ratio is now as important as price-earnings or any other measure.

To judge a company's profit outlook by the old measures alone can be terribly misleading. A new morality has been introduced and a yardstick for measuring it also has been supplied.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

The Herald's front page editorial confronting the drunk driver problem is just what the public needs to know.

It should open the eyes of the public to a problem facing anyone who dares to venture on the highway.

The concerned public knowing the facts of this situation should all stand and work together at solving this drastic situation. Thank you for letting us know what is going on.

Sincerely
MRS. HAROLD MOSS

Dear Editor:

As an observer, and not a parent, at the recently held YMCA Indian Guide rocket launching competition, I feel compelled to present my opinion concerning "parental competition."

I was informed that parents could help construct the rockets, but that the decorating was the boys' responsibility. As I viewed the boys' work, it was obvious to me that some parents had taken over this responsibility too.

Is this their way of instilling "fairness" of competition and a sense of self achievement and satisfaction in their sons? Who was it that said, "You can fool some of the people all the time and all the people some of the time, but you can't fool all the people all of the time?"

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

by LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

At what age should a family begin to worry if their child is not growing as rapidly as his peers? What would be the course of action to take?

Mr. and Mrs. B. L. M., Ohio Dear Mr. and Mrs. M: There is no special age for parents to begin to "worry." Instead, parents should be aware that a problem exists and that it should be investigated early instead of being deliberately overlooked.

Acceleration of growth usually takes place during adolescence but it varies in children of the same age. It may even vary in children in the same family.

The major reasons for a delay in growth may be some chronic illness of the kidneys, the heart or the lungs that interferes with the absorption and the use of necessary nutrients.

Probably the most significant reason for growth failure in children is a disturbance or an imbalance of the endocrine or hormone system. There are of course hereditary factors, too.

All of these conditions must be given early consideration to track down the basic cause and to remedy it as readily as possible. This is imperative if the child is to be spared the embarrassment and the stigma that often goes with being "the smallest in the class."

With modern endocrine and hormone replacement, it is remarkable how many children can attain proper growth levels.

When first it is suspected that a child is not keeping up with his peers, that is the ideal time to seek the doctor's opinion and begin necessary treatment.

I have always thought that the condition "thrush" happens only to children. My husband had it and no one seems to know how he developed it.

Mrs. S. D., Ga. Dear Mrs. D: Undoubtedly thrush does occur more often in children than in adults. It is the result of an infection with the fungus, albicans. The mouth, the tongue, the palate, the gums and the tonsils are covered by a milky white film which sticks tenaciously to the surface.

It is now seen more frequently, than formerly, in adults who have been sucking on lozenges that contain antibiotics. The antibiotics in these lozenges upset the normal balance in the mouth between germs and the fungus and can produce thrush or other types of fungus infections. It is for this reason that antibiotic lozenges should be avoided.

Thrush is not a serious condition and disappears readily with little treatment.

According To Boyle

By ROBERT E. FORD (For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP) — At least one in every 100 living Americans has had a stroke and survived.

I joined this growing two million-plus group a little over six weeks ago.

The one question everyone asks a stroke victim is, "What did it feel like?" Well, in my case, it didn't feel like anything. Nothing.

I'm afraid it wasn't dramatic at all. There was no premonition or warning of any kind. I felt no lightning bolt of pain. Or even a twinge. No confusion. No fainting or falling down. No outcry. No paralysis or numbness.

But when the phone rang on my desk late in the afternoon of March 16, I noticed as I answered it that my voice suddenly was slurring. Having been a hypochondriac since shortly before birth, my mind instantly jumped to the right conclusion: I had had a slight stroke ... and might be in the grip of a continuing one.

"How many martinis did you have at lunch?" my friend remarked. "You sound like you had four."

"None," I told him truthfully. "You know I've been on a temperance binge since the first of the year."

After hanging up, I went out to the office washroom mirror and studied my face. I found I could wrinkle my brows and move both eyes freely. No pain. No feeling of weakness or numbness or lack of coordination in hands, legs or feet. There did seem to be a slight downward turn at the left corner of my mouth, but hardly enough to dent the winning charm of my manly dimple.

I went home and decided not to do anything until morning, which could have been a deadly decision but wasn't. When I awoke, the bathroom mirror confirmed the definite turn-down at the corner of my mouth, and a short rendition aloud of the Gettysburg Address sounded like Abraham Lincoln full of martinis. But it was no worse. The stroke was over.

After going to the office and writing my daily column, I reported to the company nurse and doctor who found my blood pressure was still in the gasket-blowing range—180 over 140. It should have been 130 or 140 over 80.

Three hours later, I was in a hospital next to the room in which a famous movie star several years before had been treated successfully for his occupational ailment—delirium tremens.

I spent the afternoon drawing up a new will and spent the evening—without the knowledge or consent of my doctor—drinking Irish whisky with several grieving friends. They had gathered there largely, I believe, in the hope that since it was St. Patrick's Day, I would surely reward them by making an immortal deathbed utterance. I made several, as a matter of fact, but nobody bothered to take notes.

I awoke with my first hangover of 1972, one I am beginning to suspect will be the last one of my life.

There followed 15 days of complete bed rest during which they tested everything except my I.Q.—an oversight—and took enough blood from me to give Dracula a bubble bath. Heart action okay. No diabetes. No gold stars for the liver, but blood pressure going steadily down, down, down.

Then, I had a few weeks of recuperation, which is a medical word for loafing. Last week I made a mistake.

I went to the boss and bragged that I was the only one on his staff at the moment with medical proof that he had a normal brain. This was because a cephalogram of my head taken the day before showed no rocks but only explainable routine waves.

"I didn't know we had a brain like that left in the organization," acknowledged the boss. "Do you think it would hurt it if we put it back to work for a change?"

So, one stroke and a little more than six weeks later, here I am back at the typewriter.

A few words of counsel:

For nearly 20 years I have had high blood pressure and carried up to 40 pounds too much weight, the equivalent of lugging around three bowling balls day and night. But I stupidly resisted the doctors' plea to do anything about either.

Now my blood pressure is normal and I have taken off 25 pounds with 15 yet to go.

"You have had your warning," my doctor said. "How long you live now depends pretty much on whether you learned your lesson."

The same is probably true of most of the 30 million Americans who are overweight and the 20 million who have high blood pressure, of whom 10 million are unaware they have.

Living on a sensible diet and taking two pills a day doesn't seem like too high a price to pay for doubling or tripling your chances for a longer life.

An even more immediate reward: You feel better right away and have more energy with which to enjoy life.

Try it—you'll like it, or I'll give you your money back.

I would like to close by thanking many friends and readers across the country who sent me kind messages of encouragement during my illness.

It is nice to return to a world in which you feel welcomed. I also am grateful to the writers who wrote substitute columns during my absence, but do wish they hadn't all been quite so clever.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Always looking ahead, because that's where the money is, Wall Street suddenly has been surprised from the rear by those Phase 2 controls on profit margins.

The mystery is why it should have been surprised, because the limitations were in effect ever since the end of the 90-day freeze last November. They weren't highly publicized, but they did exist.

The most significant of these regulations clearly limits the margin of profits on sales to the average of the best two of the past three years, and calls for price rollbacks, penalties and even rebates if the rate is exceeded.

Still when those scintillating income reports for the first quarter were released there were few analysts in Wall Street who bothered to ask if they were in violation of the guidelines.

A search through many of them revealed no mention at all. And the very few who showed concern ended by downplaying the impact of the guidelines. Nobody seemed worried.

As it now appears, a good many of the profits' statements are in violation. C. Jackson Grayson, Price Commission chairman, estimates that 10 per cent of early returns for the first quarter fall into that category.

In addition, it seems that a good many companies were as indifferent to the matter of guidelines as was Wall Street in ignoring the potential impact on prices. They filed late or failed to file completely.

What Grayson has reminded industry is that it can no longer take the easy but inflationary way to profits, that it cannot hope to make its income statement look good simply by raising prices.

Instead, it must earn those profits by increasing its sales. Any company able and willing to sell more can continue to show bigger profit figures. Selling, however, is hard work, much harder than changing price tags.

The realization stunned The Street—five months delayed.

What has become clear from this misunderstanding is that a brand new measure of corporate health must be used by stock analysts. The profit-sales ratio is now as important as price-earnings or any other measure.

To judge a company's profit outlook by the old measures alone can be terribly misleading. A new morality has been introduced and a yardstick for measuring it also has been supplied.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

The Herald's front page editorial confronting the drunk driver problem is just what the public needs to know.

It should open the eyes of the public to a problem, facing anyone who dares to venture on the highway.

The concerned public knowing the facts of this situation should all stand and work together and solving this drastic situation. Thank you for letting us know what is going on.

Dear Editor:

As an observer, and not a parent, at the recently held YMCA Indian Guide rocket launching competition, I feel went into exile on the island of compelled to present my opinion concerning "parental competition."

I was informed that parents could help construct the rockets, but that the decorating was the boys' responsibility. As I viewed the boys' work, it was obvious to me that some parents had taken over this responsibility, too.

Is this their way of instilling "fairness" of competition and a sense of self achievement and satisfaction in their sons? Who was it that said, "You can fool some of the people all the time and all the people some of the time, but you can't fool all the people all of the time?"

Autopsy Is Awaited In Shooting Death

GEORGETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Brown County authorities were waiting today for results of an autopsy on the body of 19-year-old Dennis Cierly of nearby Bethel.

Cierly was found shot to death at his home late Tuesday night. Authorities said they believed the shooting was a homicide but no arrests had been made.

County Health Department Urges Power Mower Safety

There are an estimated forty million power lawn mowers in use in the U.S. This amounts to one mower for every five Americans. One hundred manufacturers produce three hundred different brand names. Five million new mowers are sold every year.

Along with improved fertilizers, lawn seed and weed killers, the power mower has made the nation's lawns the best kept in history and has contributed to man's increased use of the outdoors.

With the growing use of the power mower has been a corresponding increase in the number of mowing injuries. Each year in this country the misuse and improper operation of the power mower results in 140,000 serious injuries, with the loss of 100,000 toes, 36,000 fingers and many eye injuries, burns, fractures, lacerations and puncture wounds. Several deaths are reported yearly.

Of those injured, eighty-five per cent were operators of the machine, while 20,000 victims were casual bystanders struck by objects thrown by the mower blade. Frequently the casual bystanders are children at play.

The rotary blade of a power mower whirls at speeds of 2,000-4,000 revolutions per minute. The blade tips are traveling at over 200 miles per hour. This whirling blade is very efficient at trimming grass, fingers and toes, and can hurl debris such as nails, wire, glass and pebbles more than 50 feet with sufficient force to inflict severe injury and death.

The Accident Prevention Unit of the Ohio Department of Health reports there are approximately 7500 power mower injuries annually in Ohio. Ninety-one per cent of all mowing accidents are due to human error, usually carelessness in the operation and maintenance of the machine. Only nine per cent of the accidents can be judged as due to equipment failure. Dr. Frank R. Moore, Health Commissioner of the Pickaway County Health Department, advises that the proper operation of the power mower would prevent nearly all mowing injuries and the following precautionary steps should be a part of every mowing activity: approach the mowing job with caution. Most accidents are the result of carelessness. Give complete and undivided attention to the job at hand; wear substantial clothing, long pants and leather shoes; fill the gas tank out of doors before starting the mower. Gasoline is made to explode and burn, a hot engine or muffler will ignite gasoline fumes.

Never allow children to operate the mower; clear the area of children and pets before starting to mow, clear the area of debris before starting to mow — wire, nails, glass and stone

Huddleston Links Union To Slayings

WASHINGTON, Pa. (AP) — Silas Huddleston, accused middleman in the assassination of United Mine Workers insurgent Joseph A. "Jock" Yablonski, said Wednesday the payoff money for Yablonski's death came from the union.

The assertion was made in a statement in Washington County Court today, where Huddleston pleaded guilty to three counts of murder and one count of conspiracy. The 2½-page statement was read by an FBI agent.

Huddleston, 63, retired coal miner and former president of a UMW local in LaFollette, Tenn., said he believed the payoff money—which he said totaled $15,000—was funneled through a special UMW research and information committee.

Huddleston said he received the money and instructions for Yablonski's death through Albert E. Pass, 51, a member of the union's policy-making International Executive Board and Secretary-treasurer of the UMW's District 19; and William J. Prater, a field representative under Pass.

The gravel-voiced Yablonski, 59, his wife Margaret, 57, and their 25-year-old daughter Charlotte were shot to death in their sleep at the family's rural home in nearby Clarksville, Pa., Dec. 31, 1969.

Laird Sends War Team

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird Wednesday ordered high-level team of experts to Vietnam to assess Saigon's military needs in what may be a prelude to increased arms aid.

Pentagon spokesman, Jerry W. Friedheim said the mission will make a logistical assessment of the situation in Vietnam, both as to what the South Vietnamese need to blunt the Communist invasion and to determine what, if any, additional supplies U.S. troops need to protect themselves.

To date, Friedheim said, Laird has been satisfied that the Vietnamization program had provided Saigon with adequate military supplies and equipment.

"But in the secretary's view," he said, "the invasion and introduction of new and sophisticated Soviet weapons into the enemy's inventory make it prudent that we review the logistical situation to insure that the South Vietnamese have adequate equipment to resist the Communist invasion."

Friedheim said it may be that no further aid is required but it is the United States' intention to provide the South Vietnamese with whatever equipment is necessary. If new weapons are required, obviously new training may also be required, he said, implying that this would involve U.S. advisers.

Demo Hopeful Wants Vote In Cuyahoga Ruled Invalid

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Thomas M. Shaughnessy, a Democratic congressional candidate, filed a suit in U. S. District Court Wednesday to have Cuyahoga County results in Tuesday's Ohio primary set aside. He also asked for another election in the county.

He filed a motion to have the suit made a class action on behalf of all candidates and all voters who were denied their right to vote.

Named defendants were Secretary of State Ted Brown, Cuyahoga County Director of Elections Joseph Cipollone and members of the County Board of Elections—John J. Carney, chairman; Anthony Garofoli, Saul Stillman and Robert Hughes.

Voters estimated in the thousands were turned away from polling places in the county Tuesday because of voter machine malfunctions, locked polling places and absent voting machines.

Shaughnessy's suit asks the court for a declaratory judgment invalidating the election; an injunction to prevent the results from being certified, and a writ of mandamus to order Brown and the others to set a new date for a primary within 30 days from May 2.

Shaughnessy ran against incumbent U. S. Rep. Louis

Laird Sends War Team

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird Wednesday ordered high-level team of experts to Vietnam to assess Saigon's military needs in what may be a prelude to increased arms aid.

Pentagon spokesman, Jerry W. Friedheim said the mission will make a logistical assessment of the situation in Vietnam, both as to what the South Vietnamese need to blunt the Communist invasion and to determine what, if any, additional supplies U.S. troops need to protect themselves.

To date, Friedheim said, Laird has been satisfied that the Vietnamization program had provided Saigon with adequate military supplies and equipment.

"But in the secretary's view," he said, "the invasion and introduction of new and sophisticated Soviet weapons into the enemy's inventory make it prudent that we review the logistical situation to insure that the South Vietnamese have adequate equipment to resist the Communist invasion."

Friedheim said it may be that no further aid is required but it is the United States' intention to provide the South Vietnamese with whatever equipment is necessary. If new weapons are required, obviously new training may also be required, he said, implying that this would involve U.S. advisers.

Demo Hopeful Wants Vote In Cuyahoga Ruled Invalid

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Thomas M. Shaughnessy, a Democratic congressional candidate, filed a suit in U. S. District Court Wednesday to have Cuyahoga County results in Tuesday's Ohio primary set aside. He also asked for another election in the county.

He filed a motion to have the suit made a class action on behalf of all candidates and all voters who were denied their right to vote.

Named defendants were Secretary of State Ted Brown, Cuyahoga County Director of Elections Joseph Cipollone and members of the County Board of Elections—John J. Carney, chairman; Anthony Garofoli, Saul Stillman and Robert Hughes.

Voters estimated in the thousands were turned away from polling places in the county Tuesday because of voter machine malfunctions, locked polling places and absent voting machines.

Shaughnessy's suit asks the court for a declaratory judgment invalidating the election; an injunction to prevent the results from being certified, and a writ of mandamus to order Brown and the others to set a new date for a primary within 30 days from May 2.

Shaughnessy ran against incumbent U. S. Rep. Louis

Stokes in the 23rd congressional district.

He said Tuesday that he would file the suit because many people in the district were denied the right to vote for him.

Certain precincts in the district are dominated by elderly people and workers who weren't able to take advantage of the extended voting hours ordered by a federal judge, he said.

"The board of elections is whining that it would cost a million bucks to hold another election," Shaughnessy continued. "But my answer to that is that the right to vote is priceless. Let those who made the mistakes pay for it."

School Issues Fare Well In Election

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Voters approved 63 per cent of all school issues put to them in the Ohio primary, according to unofficial returns compiled by the Ohio Education Association.

But only 35 per cent of new school money issues were passed.

The figures did not include seven issues in Hamilton County, where returns were delayed due to tabulation problems.

The OEA statistics showed that 17 of 49 new levy issues were approved, compared with 21 of 62 in last May's primary. Only 29.5 per cent of the bond issues passed, the largest being a $4 million issue in Worth-

Only one renewal levy failed. That was a 3.8-mill levy in Gettysburg, Darke County.

Two combination new-renewal levies were rejected, however. They were a 17.3-mill package in Barborton and a 3-mill combination in Lima.

Five of 12 new issues for 5 mills or higher gained voter approval, including a 5.5-mill levy in Barnesville, where six previous requests for additional money had been defeated.

The OEA figures also showed seven districts climbed over the 20-mill level, which will be the minimum requirement to receive state aid beginning in July, 1973. Five other districts attempting to over 20 mills saw new money requests rejected.

10 Firemen Hurt Fighting Blaze At Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP)—Ten firemen were overcome by smoke and heat, and four of them received minor burns, in what was described as "an extremely hot fire" at a three-story house here Wednesday night.

Firefighters Allen Stein was reported in good condition today at Bethesda Hospital. He was burned on the face and overcome by smoke. Three other firemen were treated and released. Six of the men were treated at the scene for smoke inhalation and returned to duty.

None of the occupants of the frame house was hurt, but the blaze caused about $6,000 damage, fire marshal Norman Wells said. The fire was started by an incense candle, Wells said.

While firemen were at the scene, a teen-ager in the neighborhood placed a lit cigarette on the seat of a fire pumper. No damage was done but the youth was taken into custody.

Suits Totaling $12.1 Million Filed In Kent State Shooting

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Suits totaling $12.1 million were filed Wednesday against the state of Ohio and the Ohio National Guard in connection with the disturbance at Kent State University May 4, 1970, that left four students dead and nine injured.

Golda Meir Starts Trip To Romania

TEL AVIV (AP) — Premier Golda Meir departed for Romania today amid reports that Bucharest may try to help defuse the Arab-Israeli crisis.

"When friends speak together openly and frankly about serious problems, something eventually comes of it," she said before boarding an El Al jetliner.

Asked if Romania would arrange a meeting between Israeli and Arab leaders, Mrs. Meir said:

"When I meet them I'll tell you about it. And if I don't meet them I also will tell you. As you know we are ready day and night to meet Arab delegates."

Mrs. Meir, dressed in a dark blue suit, refused, however, to predict the outcome of the visit. "There's a Jewish saying that prophesy is given to babies and fools," she said. "I'm not very wise, but how foolish can one be."

It is the first trip by an Israeli government leader to the Communist world and Israeli officials describe the journey as a major event. They see little chance, however, that it will produce any immediate peace move in the Middle East.

The suits were filed by the American Civil Liberties Union, two in Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court and one in U.S. District Court here.

One of the common pleas court actions was for $7.4 million. It was filed on behalf of six students wounded in the confrontation and the parents of two of the slain students—Louis Schroeder, father of William Schroeder; and Mrs. Elaine Miller, mother of Jeffrey Miller.

Named as defendants in the suit were former Ohio Gov. James Rhodes, 35 Ohio National Guardsmen and 200 John Does.

The other common pleas court suit was for $3.7 million and named only the state as a defendant. It was filed on behalf of the same six students and Louis Schroeder.

The U.S. District Court wrongful death suit asked for $1 million and named as defendants 29 Ohio National Guardsmen, Rhodes, former KSU president Robert White and Sylvester Del Corso, former adjutant general who was commander of the National Guard at the time of the shooting.

It was filed on behalf of Mrs. Martin Scheuer of Youngstown, whose daughter, Sandra, 20, was one of the four students slain. It further named John Huffman, an aide to former president White as the person who "knowingly caused" the guardsmen to disperse "lawful, constitutionally protected assembly."

The suit was a companion one to the common pleas court action filed Tuesday by Mr. and Mrs. Scheuer that asked for $2 million from the state for the death of their daughter.

The federal court suit charged that the guardsmen "acting in concert and under color of law...intentionally, recklessly and wantonly shot guns...in the direction of persons on KSU's main campus without legal justification"

It noted that even if the guardsmen had been ordered to shoot "such orders were patently unlawful and did not legally justify shooting at the students."

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

City Relatives A Summer Problem

DEAR ABBY: We live on a farm in Kansas and I am already dreading the coming of summer because of all our city relatives who come and spend their vacations with us.

They bring (or send) their children who run through our house all summer, and turn it upside down.

They know we'll be home because it's our harvest time, and we have work to do, and I do mean WORK!

Abby, we've put up with this parade of relatives for 26 years and I don't think I can stand another hot summer of cooking for relatives.

What makes city folks think their farm relatives owe them a free vacation? And how come they never think of inviting their country cousins to the city for a change?

FARMER'S WIFE

SEAR WIFE: Being an Iowa girl myself, I see your point.

Browns Win Court Races

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The name of Brown continued to play its magic among Ohio politicians in Tuesday's primary election—this time in Ohio Supreme Court races.

Former Justice Paul W. Brown won Republican nomination in his bid to return to the seat he vacated in 1969 to take appointment as state attorney general. He will run against Justice Lloyd O. Brown, a Democrat and the court's newest appointee, who had no primary opposition.

Paul Brown defeated George C. Ferris, assistant secretary of state, in the GOP primary.

William B. Brown of Chillicothe, a one-time Hawaii Supreme Court judge, apparently won Democratic nomination for the second contested court race. He will oppose Justice Louis Schneider, who had no primary opposition, in the November election.

Incomplete vote returns from 8,767 of the state's 12,648 polling places show: Paul Brown 378,410; Ferris 81,055; William Brown 291,427; George W. White of Chagrin Falls, 117,802; and John M. Anderson of Cincinnati 158,041.

Gilligan, Ted Brown Trade Barbs

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. John Gilligan early Wednesday labeled the Cuyahoga County election foulup "inexcusable" and suggested Secretary of State Ted Brown retire from office.

"I don't think the governor knows what the hell went on in Cuyahoga County," Brown replied a few minutes later.

Gilligan, at a post-midnight news conference, placed the blame for the breakdown upon Brown and the board of elections in the county. He said Brown's office was in confusion.

"It was a grave disservice to our form of government," Gilligan said. "My concern is that this doesn't happen again. It was an outrageous and inexcusable breakdown of our election system."

Gilligan said "it would be best if the secretary of state retired. If I had made a string of mistakes like Brown had I would retire."

Brown, who met with newsmen later in his own office across the hall, said: "I wouldn't want to comment on charges made by somebody who has made himself so unpopular in a short period of time."

Brown said the governor had refused to cooperate with him in sponsoring an election reform bill.

Gilligan said preventing such situations in the future "revolves on all of us—the executive, the legislative and the judicial branches."

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

City Relatives A Summer Problem

DEAR ABBY: We live on a farm in Kansas and I am already dreading the coming of summer because of all our city relatives who come and spend their vacations with us.

They bring (or send) their children who run through our house all summer, and turn it upside down.

They know we'll be home because it's our harvest time, and we have work to do, and I do mean WORK!

Abby, we've put up with this parade of relatives for 26 years and I don't think I can stand another hot summer of cooking for relatives.

What makes city folks think their farm relatives owe them a free vacation? And how come they never think of inviting their country cousins to the city for a change?

FARMER'S WIFE
DEAR WIFE: Being an Iowa girl myself, I see your point.

Browns Win Court Races

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The name of Brown continued to play its magic among Ohio politics in Tuesday's primary election—this time in Ohio Supreme Court races.

Former Justice Paul W. Brown won Republican nomination in his bid to return to the seat he vacated in 1969 to take appointment as state attorney general. He will run against Justice Lloyd O. Brown, a Democrat and the court's newest appointee, who had no primary opposition.

Paul Brown defeated George C. Farris, assistant secretary of state, in the GOP primary. William B. Brown of Chillicothe, a one-time Hawaii Supreme Court judge, apparently won Democratic nomination for the second contested court race. He will oppose Justice Louis Schneider, who had no primary opposition, in the November election.

Incomplete vote returns from 8,767 of the state's 12,648 polling places show: Paul Brown 378,410; Farris 81,055; William Brown 291,427; George W. White of Chagrin Falls, 117,802, and John M. Anderson of Cincinnati 158,041.

Gilligan, Ted Brown Trade Barbs

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. John Gilligan early Wednesday labeled the Cuyahoga County election foulup "inexcusable" and suggested Secretary of State Ted Brown retire from office.

"I don't think the governor knows what the hell went on in Cuyahoga County," Brown replied a few minutes later.

Gilligan, at a post-midnight news conference, placed the blame for the breakdown upon Brown and the board of elections in the county. He said Brown's office was in confusion.

"It was a grave disservice to our form of government," Gilligan said. "My concern is that this doesn't happen again. It was an outrageous and inexcusable breakdown of our election system."

Gilligan said "it would be best if the secretary of state retired. If I had made a string of mistakes like Brown had I would retire."

Brown, who met with newsmen later in his own office across the hall, said: "I wouldn't want to comment on charges made by somebody who has made himself so unpopular in a short period of time."

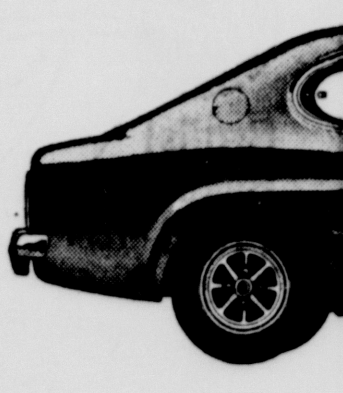

Brown said the governor had refused to cooperate with him in sponsoring an election reform bill.

Gilligan said preventing such situations in the future "revolves on all of us—the executive, the legislative and the judicial branches."

Walkathon Plans Finalized; Teen And Adult Take Part

Registration for the March of Dimes Walkathon is progressing officials note as preparations are being finalized for the big walk this Saturday.

An excellent response from the McDowell school in the Logan Elm District was noted Wednesday where 73 walker cards have been returned so far with parents' signatures.

One girl from that junior high has recorded pledges from supporters in excess of $70, demonstrating some of the enthusiasm for the project exhibited at that school.

A few adult walkers are known, but actual tally of that group will not be available until Saturday's final registration at the Fairgrounds.

HEALTH Hike officials have made arrangements with the React and Rescue squad of Pickaway County and the county sheriff auxiliary to provide special measures of safety for all the walkers who come out Saturday. A special plea has been registered with the weatherman for a perfect day with sun and a pleasant breeze, although plans are to continue the walk in less pleasant weather.

React and Rescue women members have volunteered to serve refreshments provided by the food committee, headed by Joe Smith. A band from the western part of Pickaway County, the Mod Quad, has agreed to donate their services and provide music and entertainment for all walkers at the final checkpoint at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds.

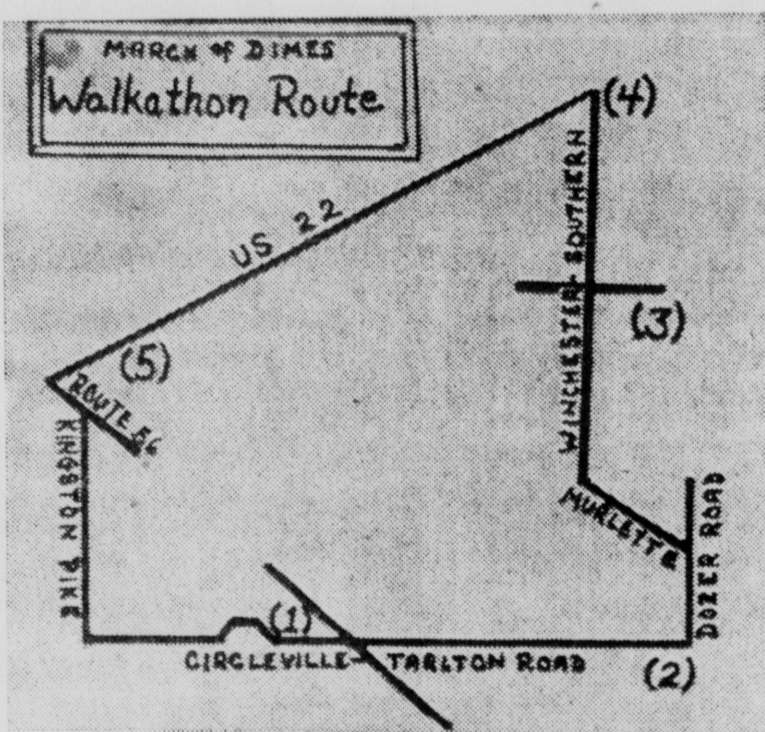

The hike, the first to be sponsored by March of Dimes in Pickaway County, is a means of raising funds for research of birth defects which strike about 250,000 newborns each year.

This county's effort will be dedicated to Mark Davie of Circleville, a seven-year-old who typifies many of the youngsters suffering from handicaps at birth.

Anyone who has not been approached by a walker who would like to be a sponsor in the Walkathon should contact the area school for information or Bill Ottinger 474-6554 or Tad Duemler 474-2155, Walkathon officials.

Registration Saturday will be from 7:30 until 8:30 in the morning on the main parking lot of the Fairgrounds. All walkers should register the original copy of their sponsor sheet at the check-in desk.

Along the 20-mile route, workers will stamp the walkers' sheet with a special marker indicating the farthest point achieved by walkers. No matter how far the individual's goal is — from five to 20 miles — he will be welcomed as a honored guest for food and entertainment at the Fairgrounds following the hike.

CHECKPOINTS — Checkpoints along the 20-mile Walkathon Route have been confirmed for Saturday. Beginning at the Fairgrounds, walkers will travel along the roads shown above to (1) Morris EUB Church then a two-mile jaunt to the Logan Elm High School (2), five miles to Stoutsville (3) and two more miles to the state rest area on Route 22 (4). The longest section of the walkathon is the six miles back to the Fairgrounds (5).

Sneek-A-Peek

By Pickaway County Library Staff

Do you know about the "Basket Books" in the Children's room of the Library? Since most small people like little objects they can hold in their hands, publishers produce tiny books. Many of these, such as the Beatrix Potter books, have delighted generations of youngsters. These little books for little people are kept in a basket on the hearth in the Sneek-A-Peek Room. Tiny tots can squat beside this appealing woven straw holder and select their own books.

Joan Walsh Anglund writes specifically for these borrowers. Her books have appeal for adults, some of which are "Love Is A Special Way Of Feeling", "A Friend Is Someone You Like", and "A Year Is Round". Miss Anglund's illustrations are easily identified: her figures have large heads with prominent eyes, and small bodies in natural poses.

"Under the Green Willow" combines marvelously simple designs with a story for the very youngest children. It was created by Elizabeth Coat-sworth.

Barney was a cat who died. His bereaved owner tried to think of Barney's good qualities. "The Tenth Good Thing About Barney" is a simple and direct lesson about accepting death. Youngsters should know this book before they lose a pet, or a loved one.

"A Boy, A Dog, and A Friend" is a tiny book without words. But a fishing story is clearly defined by its pictures. Mercer and Marianna Mayer are responsible for this one.

"The Little Brutes" have ugly faces, but then, their lives were pretty unhappy. They snarled and grumbled at their lot. Then everything came up roses, and smiles, even on ugly faces, have charm. Preschoolers who meet the Brutes want to borrow the books again and again.

Why is it that the word "no" is an invitation to go ahead anyway? Lois Myler created a story with a moral in "No! No!" Its two baby hedgehogs are daredevils, climbing, dropping things, and burning themselves. Cyndy Szekeres drew the pictures.

Walter Erhard's crayon pictures look as though they had been done by hand in "Days of the Week." This is the old rhyme about "Monday's child is full of face." Thursday's child in this small book by Beman Lord has a long way to go, indeed. He is wearing a space suit!

There is a good lesson in cleanliness in "Sharp and Shiny" by Marguerita Rudolph. But it's sugar coated, and charmingly illustrated by Susan Perl.

Charlotte Zolotow has written a sensitive book for fatherless

Man Faces Charges Of Heroin Possession

CINCINNATI (AP) — A 28-year-old Cincinnati man, Ronald Fears, was scheduled to appear in court here today on a charge of possession of heroin.

Police said Fears had $1,000 worth of heroin in his possession when arrested Wednesday. The heroin was in 100 small bags, police said.

children. She has struck just the right note in explaining that all children may grow up to be the kind of parents they missed. It is titled "A Father Like That."

McGovern Campaign Running Well

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
AP Political Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Midway through the presidential primary season, Sen. George McGovern's campaign for the Democratic nomination is on schedule—or even a bit ahead of it.

Regardless of his loss to Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey by a slim margin in Ohio, McGovern has succeeded in making a strong showing on his rival's strongest turf.

"We achieved what we set out to do in Ohio," McGovern's

Frank Mankiewicz, told reporters Wednesday. "We stood Sen. Humphrey dead even and probably beat him in the working areas of this state."

As in Pennsylvania a week ago, where McGovern placed a strong second in delegates to Humphrey, 39 to 55, the South Dakota senator scored more heavily in Ohio than anyone expected him to do until the last few days of the campaign.

He got an added plus from this week's primaries when Humphrey defeated Gov. George C. Wallace by a relatively narrow margin in neighboring Indiana. The Alabama governor fared far better against Humphrey in 1972 than he did in 1964 against former Gov. Matthew Welsh, that year's stand-in for President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Although Humphrey is expected to out-distance Wallace by a substantial margin next week in West Virginia, the Alabama governor cast a long shadow over the former vice president's chances the following week in two states he carried against President Nixon in 1968, Maryland and Michigan.

McGovern is poised to do his part there, too, with a strong chance to take at least one

Maryland district and a strong volunteer organization ready to roll in Michigan.

But the most significant part of McGovern's Ohio showing, even if his totals in the state's heavily unionized blue collar regions turn out to be somewhat below his staff's claims, is that he has survived in good shape in the two strongest states of his chief rival.

Now the battle will move on to what McGovern's staff regards as his favorable turf—New York.

The staff's analysis of where McGovern would do well has been quite accurate so far.

Solons Doubt South Viets' War Ability

WASHINGTON (AP) — Doubt about South Vietnam's fighting ability has come from unexpected Senate quarters in debate over cutting off the money for all U.S. combat involvement in Indochina.

Republican whip Robert P. Griffin and Armed Services Committee Chairman John C. Stennis, both staunch supporters of administration war policy, expressed doubts Wednesday but argued strongly against a cutoff. They contended it would hobble the President.

"The South Vietnamese forces may not be able to hack it," Griffin said, but to vote for a cutoff, though it would not be effective until Dec. 31, would undercut President Nixon and encourage the enemy.

And, the Michigan senator said, passage of a cutoff would be a futile gesture, since the legislation is subject to consideration by the House and by Nixon.

Stennis, D-Miss., noted that enemy forces had overrun Quang Tri city and are advancing on the old imperial capital of Hue.

"As that battle goes, it's going to be hard for the South Vietnamese without the assistance of our ground troops to recover from these damaging blows," he said. But Stennis said he doubts Nixon will recommit U.S. ground troops to the war.

"I want to get out, and everybody here does," Stennis continued, often thumping his desk. "But you scratch the surface, and the American people don't want to be driven out... like a whipped dog."

Walkathon Plans Finalized; Teen And Adult Take Part

Registration for the March of Dimes Walkathon is progressing officials note as preparations are being finalized for the big walk this Saturday.

An excellent response from the McDowell school in the Logan Elm District was noted Wednesday where 73 walkers, cards have been returned so far with parents' signatures.

One girl from that junior high has recorded pledges from supporters in excess of $70, demonstrating some of the enthusiasm for the project exhibited at that school.

A few adult walkers are known, but actual tally of that group will not be available until Saturday's final registration at the Fairgrounds.

HEALTH Hike officials have made arrangements with the React and Rescue squad of Pickaway County and the county sheriff auxiliary to provide special measures of safety for all the walkers who come out Saturday. A special plea has been registered with the weatherman for a perfect day with sun and a pleasant breeze, although plans are to continue the walk in less pleasant weather.

React and Rescue women members have volunteered to serve refreshments provided by the food committee, headed by Joe Smith. A band from the western part of Pickaway County, the Mod Quad, has agreed to donate their services and provide music and entertainment for all walkers at the final checkpoint at the Fairgrounds.

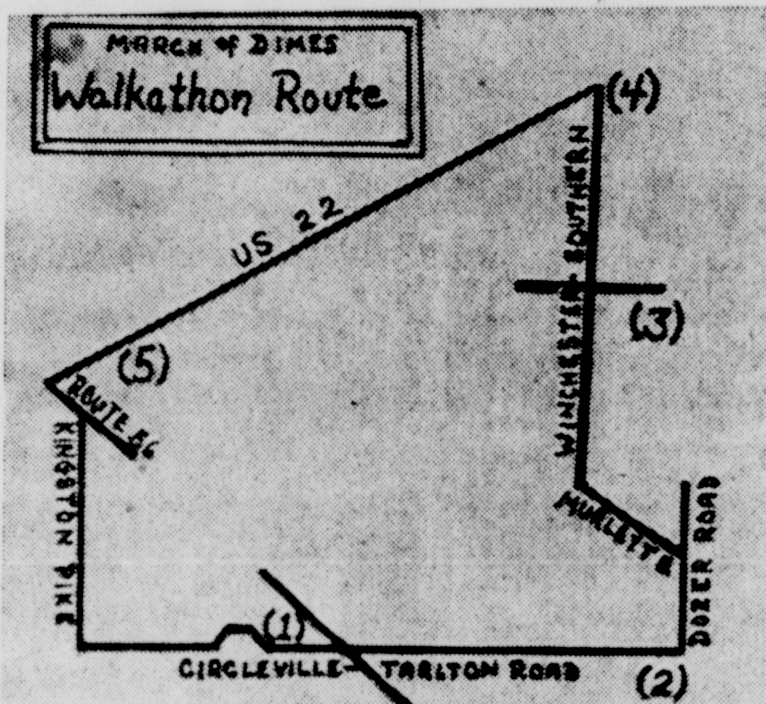

The hike, the first to be sponsored by March of Dimes in Pickaway County, is a means of raising funds for research of birth defects which strike about 250,000 newborns each year.

This county's effort will be dedicated to Mark Davie of Circleville, a seven-year-old who typifies many of the youngsters suffering from handicaps at birth.

Anyone who has not been approached by a walker who would like to be a sponsor in the Walkathon should contact the area school for information or Bill Ottinger 474-6554 or Tad Duemler 474-2155, Walkathon officials.

Registration Saturday will be from 7:30 until 8:30 in the morning on the main parking lot of the Fairgrounds. All walkers should register the original copy of their sponsor sheet at the check-in desk.

Along the 20-mile route, workers will stamp the walkers' sheet with a special marker indicating the farthest point achieved by walkers. No matter how far the individual's goal is — from five to 20 miles — he will be welcomed as a honored guest for food and entertainment at the Fairgrounds following the hike.

CHECKPOINTS — Checkpoints along the 20-mile Walkathon Route have been confirmed for Saturday. Beginning at the Fairgrounds, walkers will travel along the roads shown above to (1) Morris EUB Church then a two-mile jaunt to the Logan Elm High School (2), five miles to Stoutsville (3) and two more miles to the state rest area on Route 22 (4). The longest section of the walkathon is the six miles back to the Fairgrounds (5).

Sneek-A-Peek

By Pickaway County Library Staff

Do you know about the "Basket Books" in the Children's room of the Library? Since most small people like little objects they can hold in their hands, publishers produce tiny books. Many of these, such as the Beatrix Potter books, have delighted generations of youngsters. These little books for little people are kept in a basket on the hearth in the Sneek-A-Peek Room. Tiny tots can squat beside this appealing woven straw holder and select their own books.

Joan Walsh Anglund writes specifically for these borrowers. Her books have appeal for adults, some of which are "Love Is A Special Way Of Feeling", "A Friend Is Someone You Like", and "A Year Is Round". Miss Anglund's illustrations are easily identified: her figures have large heads with prominent eyes, and small bodies in natural poses.

"Under the Green Willow" combines marvelously simple designs with a story for the very youngest children. It was created by Elizabeth Coat-sworth.

Barney was a cat who died. His bereaved owner tried to think of Barney's good qualities. "The Tenth Good Thing About Barney" is a simple and indirect lesson about accepting death. Youngsters should know this book before they lose a pet, or a loved one.

"A Boy, A Dog, And A Friend" is a tiny book without words. But a fishing story is clearly defined by its pictures. Mercer and Marianna Mayer are responsible for this one.

"The Little Brutes" have ugly faces, but then, their lives were pretty unhappy. They snarled and grumbled at their lot. Then everything came up roses, and smiles, even on ugly faces, have charm. Preschoolers who meet the Brutes want to borrow the books again and again.

Why is it that the word "no" is an invitation to go ahead anyway? Lois Myller created a story with a moral in "No! No!" Its two baby hedgehogs are daredevils, climbing, dropping things, and burning themselves. Cyndy Szekeres drew the pictures.

Walter Erhard's crayon pictures look as though they had been done by hand in "Days of the Week." This is the old rhyme about "Monday's child is full of face." Thursday's child in this small book by Beman Lord has a long way to go, indeed. He is wearing a space suit!

There is a good lesson in cleanliness in "Sharp and Shiny" by Marguerita Rudolph. But it's sugar coated, and charmingly illustrated by Susan Pearl.

Business Briefs

BancOhio Corporation announced that it has filed a registration statement with the Securities and Exchange Commission relating to the proposed public offering of $25,000,000 of Notes due November 15, 1979, its first public debt offering. The First Boston Corporation and The Ohio Company have been named managers of the underwriting group for an offering scheduled for early May.

The multi-bank holding company said that the proceeds from the sale will be used to provide additional capital for certain of its affiliated banks, and for advances to or investment in present or future bank affiliates and affiliates engaged in bank-related activities. The balance of the proceeds will be added to the general funds for corporate purposes.

BancOhio Corporation, the oldest bank holding company in Ohio, constitutes the second largest banking organization in that state. The company owns substantially all of the capital stock of 31 banks, with 142 banking offices located in 30 Ohio counties. The Second National Bank, Circleville, is an affiliate.

Man Faces Charges Of Heroin Possession

CINCINNATI (AP) — A 28-year-old Cincinnati man, Ronald Fears, was scheduled to appear in court here today on a charge of possession of heroin. Police said Fears had $1,000 worth of heroin in his possession when arrested Wednesday. The heroin was in 100 small bags, police said.

McGovern Campaign Running Well

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
AP Political Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Midway through the presidential primary season, Sen. George McGovern's campaign for the Democratic nomination is on schedule—or even a bit ahead of it.

Regardless of his loss to Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey by a slim margin in Ohio, McGovern has succeeded in making a strong showing on his rival's strongest turf.

"We achieved what we set out to do in Ohio," McGovern's

Frank Mankiewicz, told reporters Wednesday. "We stood Sen. Humphrey dead even and probably beat him in the working areas of this state."

As in Pennsylvania a week ago, where McGovern placed a strong second in delegates to Humphrey, 39 to 55, the South Dakota senator scored more heavily in Ohio than anyone expected him to do until the last few days of the campaign.

He got an added plus from this week's primaries when Humphrey defeated Gov. George C. Wallace by a relatively narrow margin in neighboring Indiana. The Alabama governor fared far better against Humphrey in 1972 than he did in 1964 against former Gov. Matthew Welsh, that year's stand-in for President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Although Humphrey is expected to out-distance Wallace by a substantial margin next week in West Virginia, the Alabama governor cast a long shadow over the former vice president's chances the following week in two states he carried against President Nixon in 1968, Maryland and Michigan.

McGovern is poised to do his part there, too, with a strong chance to take at least one

Maryland district and a strong volunteer organization ready to roll in Michigan.

But the most significant part of McGovern's Ohio showing, even if his totals in the state's heavily unionized blue collar regions turn out to be somewhat below his staff's claims, is that he has survived in good shape in the two strongest states of his chief rival.

Now the battle will move on to what McGovern's staff regards as his favorable turf—and New York.

The staff's analysis of where McGovern would do well has been quite accurate so far.

Solons Doubt South Viets' War Ability

WASHINGTON (AP) — Doubt about South Vietnam's fighting ability has come from unexpected Senate quarters in debate over cutting off the money for all U.S. combat involvement in Indochina.

Republican whip Robert P. Griffin and Armed Services Committee Chairman John C. Stennis, both staunch supporters of administration war policy, expressed doubts Wednesday but argued strongly against a cutoff. They contended it would hobble the President.

"The South Vietnamese forces may not be able to hack it," Griffin said, but to vote for a cutoff, though it would not be effective until Dec. 31, would undercut President Nixon and encourage the enemy.

And, the Michigan senator said, passage of a cutoff would be a futile gesture, since the legislation is subject to consideration by the House and by Nixon.

Stennis, D-Miss., noted that enemy forces had overrun Quang Tri city and are advancing on the old imperial capital of Hue.

"As that battle goes, it's going to be hard for the South Vietnamese without the assistance of our ground troops to recover from these damaging blows," he said. But Stennis said he doubts Nixon will recommit U.S. ground troops to the war.

"I want to get out, and everybody here does," Stennis continued, often thumping his desk. "But you scratch the surface, and the American people don't want to be driven out... like a whipped dog."

Psychiatric Team Links Murders To Moon Phases

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Outbreaks of murder may be triggered by the moon tugging on "biological tides" inside the human body, a team of psychiatric researchers has found.

Dr. Arnold L. Lieber, a senior resident in psychiatry at the University of Miami's medical school, said Wednesday a two-year study had established a "scientifically sound relationship" between phases of the moon and the murder rate in Dade County.

Lieber said a chart of Miami area homicides over the last 15 years plotted according to moon phases looks remarkably like a chart of ocean tides.

Using computer programs, Lieber and Dr. Carolyn R. Sherin of the University of Miami, analyzed nearly 1,900 murders that occurred between 1956 and 1970.

Fair Skies Dominant

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Beautiful spring weather reigned over most of the nation today.

With the exception of a long band of scattered rainstorms along the Eastern Seaboard, fair skies and seasonable temperatures were widespread.

The rain in the East was heaviest in North Carolina, where more than an inch soaked Hickory.

The one other smudge on the weather map was the continuing early-season heat wave in the Southwest, where the mercury has risen above the 100-degree mark for the past three days.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 85 at Needles, Calif., to 28 at Marquette County Airport, Mich.

The data revealed that the county's murder rate began to rise about 24 hours before the full moon, reached a peak at full moon, then dropped back before climbing again to a secondary peak at the new moon.

While the effect of the moon's gravitational pull on humans is small, Lieber said it may be enough to touch off emotional instability in "borderline" cases. This instability is reflected in the murder rate, which he terms a reliable measure of its effect on the general population.

Lieber said the makeup of the body itself helped him turn to the concept of "biological tides" to explain the phenomenon. The body is "a microcosm comprising essentially the same elements and in similar proportions as the earth's surface—approximately 80 per cent water and 20 per cent minerals," he said.

"I feel that eventually we are going to show that any organism, human or animal, is a integral part of the universe and responds to changes like variations in the solar cycle and the lunar cycle."

When the moon and sun are in proper position to exert their greatest gravitational force on the earth, Lieber added, there seems to be even a more marked increase in "ruthless and bizarre" violent crime.

During this "maximum tidal force," which occurs once about every 14 months, Lieber said Dade County's murder rate temporarily rose to four and five murders a day.

Miss America Is Hospitalized

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Miss America, Miss Laurie Lea Schaefer, was in satisfactory condition today at Atlantic City Hospital where she was admitted early Wednesday suffering with stomach cramps.

"We've got the fever down and she's doing pretty good," a hospital spokesman said, describing her condition as acute gastro enteritis, an abdominal ailment that may be caused by a virus.

The 22-year-old resident of Bexley, Ohio, who won her crown here last September, was brought to the hospital about 1:30 a.m. Wednesday by her traveling companion, Mrs. Irene Bryant.

Arbor Day Program Held At LE

McDowell School held an Arbor Day celebration April 28 conducted by Mrs. Cheryl Jordan and the seventh grades.

A history of Arbor Day was presented by Chris Blubaugh. A special report was given by Rodney Wilburn on the founder of the Arbor Day ceremony, J. Sterling Morton.

Their information revealed that the first formal observance as a time of planting trees came in April, 1872. On the twenty-second of that day in Nebraska, Morton, who was a member of the state Board of Agriculture, made a motion to plant more trees in that state which was nearly without.

On the first Arbor Day in Nebraska, more than a million trees were planted. Thirteen years later, the state legislature passed an act fixing the date of April 22, the anniversary of that day Morton first proclaimed, and made that day a legal holiday.

General observances of Arbor Day are held throughout the United States with special exercises in schools including the planting of trees.

Chuck Cave spoke to the assembled group on the importance of trees and the McDowell kindergarten sang a song, "O Arbor Day." The words were the original work of Mrs. Palmblade and Mrs. Hartley, class teachers.

Planting the two spruce trees was the project of Chris Blubaugh, Dennis Redman, Tony Holbrook, Chuck Cave and Rodney Wilburn.

School students are now constructing a wildlife area to provide shelter, shade, food and homes for birds.

Closing the program, Allen Strous offered a prayer.

House Being Built As Class Project

MILAN, Ohio (AP) — If you want to inspect the senior class project of the Ebove Vocational School here, go to the corner of River Road and Horseshoe Drive in nearby Monroeville.

There you'll find a one-and-a-half-story house. It was built by the carpentry class with the help of student electricians.

Social Security Checks Help Elderly To Live Alone

As more and more people 65 and over have received social security checks during the past 20 years, fewer and fewer of them have made their homes with relatives.

Of the 12 million people 65 and over 20 years ago, one in six got monthly social security checks, and half lived with relatives, according to Harry B.

Urge Unions, Business Cooperate

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — U.S. Secretary of Labor James Hodgson says the blame for the nation's economic problems cannot be heaped on organized labor alone.

"I do not say that labor has not contributed to our problems, nor that it has no responsibility to help correct them," Hodgson said here Wednesday in an appearance before the National Industrial Marketing Conference of the American Marketing Association.

"But I do say that repressive, retaliatory actions like punitive labor law change proposals and hysterical attacks on labor unions are part of over-reaction."

Hodgson said the American businessman has looked around for someone to blame and "settled on organized labor."

The labor secretary said what the American economy needs is a "new pattern of co-operation" between labor and management rather than a pattern of confrontation. He said such an atmosphere would cause "industry to boom" and productivity to increase.

"Here is one of industry's big challenges," Hodgson said. "To readjust work patterns and to expand job experiences and opportunities to find a basis for appealing to these new motivations."

OHIO CASH GRAIN

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Department of Agriculture cash grain prices: No. 2 red wheat mostly 2.3 lower, 1.42-1.54, mostly 1.49-1.52; No. 2 shelled corn mostly unchanged, 1.10-1.15, mostly 1.12-1.15; No. 2 oats unchanged, .65-.80, mostly .70-.75; soybeans mostly 1 lower, 3.30-3.49, mostly 3.32-3.37.

Bieber, social security district manager in Chillicothe. "Today there are more than 20 million people 65 and over," he said. "Four out of five get social security checks, and one in three lives with relatives."

Social security may have contributed to the live-alone trend, according to a recent study. The study shows that most people 65 and over prefer to live on their own if they have enough income, and social security payments have become the largest single share of their income — now about 34 per cent.

Since 1952, the average monthly social security check paid to a retired worker has increased from $50 to $131. The number of people who get social security retirement benefits has increased from 2 million to nearly 17 million.

"More than nine out of 10 people 65 and over are eligible for social security payments," Bieber noted. "And two-thirds of them prefer to live by themselves — as married couples or single people." Four out of five married couples with one member 65 or over now live apart from relatives — compared to two out of three in 1952. Sixty per cent of single people 65 or over live alone now — compared with less than 50 per cent in 1952, the study shows.

The study was conducted by the Social Security Administration of the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. The Chillicothe office is located at 606 Central Center, telephone number 775-4950. The hours are from 8:45 to 4:45 p.m. Monday through Friday, holidays excepted.

Psychiatric Team Links Murders To Moon Phases

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Outbreaks of murder may be triggered by the moon tugging on "biological tides" inside the human body, a team of psychiatric researchers has found. Dr. Arnold L. Lieber, a senior resident in psychiatry at the University of Miami's medical school, said Wednesday a two-year study had established a "scientifically sound relationship" between phases of the moon and the murder rate in Dade County.

area homicides over the last 15 years plotted according to moon phases looks remarkably like a chart of ocean tides.

Using computer programs, Lieber and Dr. Carolyn R. Sherin of the University of Miami, analyzed nearly 1,900 murders that occurred between 1956 and 1970.

The data revealed that the county's murder rate began to rise about 24 hours before the full moon, reached a peak at full moon, then dropped back before climbing again to a secondary peak at the new moon.

While the effect of the moon's gravitational pull on humans is small, Lieber said it may be enough to touch off emotional instability in "borderline" cases. This instability is reflected in the murder rate, which he terms a reliable measure of its effect on the general population.

Lieber said the makeup of the body itself helped him turn to the concept of "biological tides" to explain the phenomenon. The body is "a microcosm comprising essentially the same elements and in similar proportions as the earth's surface—approximately 80 per cent water and 20 per cent minerals," he said.

"I feel that eventually we are going to show that any organism, human or animal, is integral part of the universe and responds to changes like variations in the solar cycle and the lunar cycle."

When the moon and sun are in proper position to exert their greatest gravitational force on the earth, Lieber added, there seems to be even a more marked increase in "ruthless and bizarre" violent crime.

During this "maximum tidal force," which occurs once about every 14 months, Lieber said Dade County's murder rate temporarily rose to four and five murders a day.

Miss America Is Hospitalized

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Miss America, Miss Laurie Lea Schaefer, was in satisfactory condition today at Atlantic City Hospital where she was admitted early Wednesday suffering with stomach cramps.

"We've got the fever down and she's doing pretty good," a hospital spokesman said, describing her condition as acute gastro enteritis, an abdominal ailment that may be caused by a virus.

The 22-year-old resident of Bexley, Ohio, who won her crown here last September, was brought to the hospital about 1:30 a.m. Wednesday by her traveling companion, Mrs. Irene Bryant.

Arbor Day Program Held At LE

McDowell School held an Arbor Day celebration April 28 conducted by Mrs. Cheryl Jordan and the seventh grades.

A history of Arbor Day was presented by Chris Blubaugh. A special report was given by Rodney Wilburn on the founder of the Arbor Day ceremony, J. Sterling Morton.

Their information revealed that the first formal observance as a time of planting trees came in April, 1872. On the twenty-second of that day in Nebraska, Morton, who was a member of the state Board of Agriculture, made a motion to plant more trees in that state which was nearly without.

On the first Arbor Day in Nebraska, more than a million trees were planted. Thirteen years later, the state legislature passed an act fixing the date of April 22, the anniversary of that day Morton first proclaimed, and made that day a legal holiday.

General observances of Arbor Day are held throughout the United States with special exercises in schools including the planting of trees.

Chuck Cave spoke to the assembled group on the importance of trees and the McDowell kindergarten sang a song, "O Arbor Day." The words were the original work of Mrs. Palmblade and Mrs. Hartley, class teachers.

Planting the two spruce trees was the project of Chris Blubaugh, Dennis Redman, Tony Holbrook, Chuck Cave and Rodney Wilburn.

School students are now constructing a wildlife area to provide shelter, shade, food and homes for birds.

Closing the program, Allen Strous offered a prayer.

Social Security Checks Help Elderly To Live Alone

As more and more people 65 and over have received social security checks during the past 20 years, fewer and fewer of them have made their homes with relatives.

Of the 12 million people 65 and over 20 years ago, one in six got monthly social security checks, and half lived with relatives, according to Harry B.

Tigers Drop SCOL Contest To Wilmington Nine, 7-2

Circleville dropped its first South Central Ohio League contest Wednesday when the Tigers were upset by Wilmington, 7-2, on the Hurricane's home grounds.

The loss gives the Tigers a 7-1 mark in league play and throws them into a first place tie with Greenfield. Circleville has two league games remaining. They will meet Greenfield on the McClain diamond and host Miami Trace to complete league play.

Good defense was the key factor for Wilmington as the Hurricane came up with three big double plays and made two fine catches in the outfield.

Two costly errors hurt the Tigers and gave the Hurricane five unearned runs in the game.

DON Valentine opened on the hill for Circleville. The big righthander gave up seven runs, two earned, nine hits, three walks and struckout two hitters in his five innings on the mound.

Greg Hoskins came on in relief and finished the contest. He gave up one walk, fanned two and hurled hitless ball.

West and Surface handled the mound duties for Wilmington. They allowed eight hits, one walk and struckout two Tigers.

Wilmington tallied three runs in the bottom of the first on two walks, two singles and a misplayed fly ball in the Tiger outfield.

They added another marker in the fourth on a triple and single.

Wilmington scored three more runs in the fifth on a triple, double, two singles and a Tiger miscue.

THE Tigers scored both runs in the top of the fifth inning. Rock Davis singled, Randy Sprout walked and both scored when Gary Mogan smashed a long double.

Tom Taylor and Davis both had a pair of singles, Mogan rapped a two-bagger while Paul England, Sprout and Terry Morrison each had a single for the Tigers.

Carnahan slugged a triple and double and Tim Martin had a three-bagger to pace the Hurricane.

Circleville committed two errors in the game while Wilmington played errorless ball.

Lakers Use High Speed To Stop Knicks, 107-96

NEW YORK (AP) — "We played like we did all year in that third quarter," Jerry West said. "We ran."

The Los Angeles Lakers literally ran away from New York in that period, then shut down a fourth-quarter Knicks rally to post a 107-96 victory Wednesday night and run up a 2-1 lead in their best-of-seven National Basketball Association championship series.

"When we came to New York," West said, "we were hoping for a split of the two games here. Now, of course, we're looking for a sweep."

The fourth game is set for Friday night in Madison Square Garden, then the scene shifts back to Los Angeles Sunday for game No. 5.

In tonight's only pro basketball playoff action, the New York Nets and Virginia Squires collide in the seventh and deciding game of their American Basketball Association Eastern Division finals.

The Knicks led 28-23 after one period but, thanks to a tenacious Los Angeles defense, fell behind by five at the half.

Then the Lakers really went to work, outgunning the Knicks in the first six minutes of the third quarter to take a 72-52 lead. They went up by as many as 22 points before New York closed the gap to 80-65 going into the final 12 minutes.

And the Knicks continued to chip away at the lead, cutting it to as few as seven before fading in the closing minutes. "We weren't too concerned about it," West said of the Knicks' charge. "In a situation like that, when they're down so far, they've got to make every shot and they've got to keep from fouling and they've got to stop us completely."

West wasn't the Lakers' scoring leader. He got 21 points while Wilt Chamberlain, dominating the offensive boards, led everybody with 26 points. Gail Goodrich added 25.

Chamberlain also controlled the defensive boards, along with Happy Hairston. Each of them hauled down 20 rebounds.

But West reached a plateau of his own. With 3:08 remaining, he cannaed a long jumper to become the first player in NBA history to pass the 4,000-point mark in playoff games.

"That signifies two or three things," the star guard said of his feat—4,001 points in 133 post-season contests—"that I've been in a lot of playoff games, that this is a good team to get me in them—and that I shoot a lot."

The Knicks were led by Walt Frazier with 25 points and Jerry Lucas with 23. But Dave Debusschere, who played 20 minutes, all in the first half, despite a pulled muscle in his right side above the hip, went scoreless.

Vikings Shut Out Marysville, 3-0

Roy Good hurled a two-hit shutout and Terry Lambert blasted a homerun to give Teays Valley a 3-0 decision over Marysville Wednesday on the Vikings' diamond.

Good turned a superb mound performance and kept the Marysville hitters baffled. He allowed two hits, walked one and fanned five.

Lambert blasted a leadoff

homerun in the first inning to give Good all the cushion he needed.

Wade Bright and Kevin Playne shared the mound duties for Marysville. They allowed six hits, gave up one walk and struckout five.

Teays Valley tallied single runs in the first, third and fourth innings to win the game.

Joe Merritt added two singles while Dave Chaffin, Jeff Beatty and Joe Lombardo each had a one-bagger for the Vikings.

The Vikings are now 6-7 for the season, 4-2 in Metro League play and will be at Groveport tonight.

Tribe Tops Rangers; Wins 2-1

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP)—When Ken Aspromonte took over the Cleveland Indians this spring, the first thing he did was preach fundamentals.

"We're not going to knock anybody down with our power, so we've got to find other ways to win," the Cleveland manager said Wednesday night after the Tribe squeezed out a 2-1 victory over the Texas Rangers. That gave the Indians a sweep of the two-game series.

"We're starting to play the brand of ball I've been preaching since we started spring training. Tom McCraw's leading us, but it's contagious and it's a very positive sign."

"I believe in being aggressive," said Aspromonte. "I like it when we take the extra base, break up the double play with a good slide. That's hard-nosed fundamentals in my book."

"That's what won for us tonight. McCraw slides hard, breaks up the double play, and Craig Nettles scores the winning run. We're forcing mistakes out of the opposition and we're starting to appreciate it more."

"I'm a cheer leader in the dugout, and I want my players that way too. That way they'll have their heads in the game," Aspromonte added.

Tigers Drop SCOL Contest To Wilmington Nine, 7-2

Circleville dropped its first South Central Ohio League contest Wednesday when the Tigers were upset by Wilmington, 7-2, on the Hurricane's home grounds.

The loss gives the Tigers a 7-1 mark in league play and throws them into a first place tie with Greenfield. Circleville has two league games remaining. They will meet Greenfield on the McClain diamond and host Miami Trace to complete league play.

Good defense was the key factor for Wilmington as the Hurricane came up with three big double plays and made two fine catches in the outfield.

Two costly errors hurt the Tigers and gave the Hurricane five unearned runs in the game.

DON Valentine opened on the hill for Circleville. The big righthander gave up seven runs, two earned, nine hits, three walks and struckout two hitters in his five innings on the mound.

Greg Hoskins came on in relief and finished the contest. He gave up one walk, fanned two and hurled hitless ball.

West and Surface handled the mound duties for Wilmington. They allowed eight hits, one walk and struckout two Tigers.

Wilmington tallied three runs in the bottom of the first on two walks, two singles and a misplayed fly ball in the Tiger outfield.

They added another marker in the fourth on a triple and single.

Wilmington scored three more runs in the fifth on a triple, double, two singles and a Tiger miscue.

THE Tigers scored both runs in the top of the fifth inning. Rock Davis singled, Randy Sprout walked and both scored when Gary Mogan smashed a long double.

Tom Taylor and Davis both had a pair of singles, Mogan rapped a two-bagger while Paul England, Sprout and Terry Morrison each had a single for the Tigers.

Carnahan slugged a triple and double and Tim Martin had a three-bagger to pace the Hurricane.

Circleville committed two errors in the game while Wilmington played errorless ball.

Vikings Shut Out Marysville, 3-0

Roy Good hurled a two-hit shutout and Terry Lambert blasted a homerun to give Teays Valley a 3-0 decision over Marysville Wednesday on the Vikings' diamond.

Good turned a superb mound performance and kept the Marysville hitters baffled. He allowed two hits, walked one and fanned five.

Lambert blasted a leadoff

homerun in the first inning to give Good all the cushion he needed.

Wade Bright and Kevin Payne shared the mound duties for Marysville. They allowed six hits, gave up one walk and struckout five.

Teays Valley tallied single runs in the first, third and fourth innings to win the game.

Joe Merritt added two singles while Dave Chaffin, Jeff Beatty and Joe Lombardo each had a one-bagger for the Vikings.

The Vikings are now 6-7 for the season, 4-2 in Metro League play and will be at Groveport tonight.

Tribe Tops Rangers; Wins 2-1

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP)—When Ken Aspromonte took over the Cleveland Indians this spring, the first thing he did was preach fundamentals.

"We're not going to knock anybody down with our power, so we've got to find other ways to win," the Cleveland manager said Wednesday night after the Tribe squeezed out a 2-1 victory over the Texas Rangers. That gave the Indians a sweep of the two-game series.

"We're starting to play the brand of ball I've been preaching since we started spring training. Tom McCraw's leading us, but it's contagious and it's a very positive sign.

"I believe in being aggressive," said Aspromonte. "I like it when we take the extra base, break up the double play with a good slide. That's hard-nosed fundamentals in my book.

"That's what won for us tonight. McCraw slides hard, breaks up the double play, and Craig Nettles scores the winning run. We're forcing mistakes out of the opposition and we're starting to appreciate it more.

"I'm a cheer leader in the dugout, and I want my players that way too. That way they'll have their heads in the game," Aspromonte added.

Lakers Use High Speed To Stop Knicks, 107-96

NEW YORK (AP)—"We played like we did all year in that third quarter," Jerry West said. "We ran."

The Los Angeles Lakers literally ran away from New York in that period, then shut down a fourth-quarter Knicks rally to post a 107-96 victory Wednesday night and run up a 2-1 lead in their best-of-seven National Basketball Association championship series.

"When we came to New York," West said, "we were hoping for a split of the two games here. Now, of course, we're looking for a sweep."

The fourth game is set for Friday night in Madison Square Garden, then the scene shifts back to Los Angeles Sunday for game No. 5.

In tonight's only pro basketball playoff action, the New York Nets and Virginia Squires collide in the seventh and deciding game of their American Basketball Association Eastern Division finals.

The Knicks led 28-23 after one period but, thanks to a tenacious Los Angeles defense, fell behind by five at the half.

Then the Lakers really went to work, outgunning the Knicks 20-5 in the first six minutes of the third quarter to take a 72-52 lead. They went up by as many as 22 points before New York closed the gap to 80-65 going into the final 12 minutes.

And the Knicks continued to chip away at the lead, cutting it to as few as seven before fading in the closing minutes.

"We weren't too concerned about it," West said of the Knicks' charge. "In a situation like that, when they're down so far, they've got to make every shot and they've got to keep from fouling and they've got to stop us completely."

West wasn't the Lakers' scoring leader. He got 21 points while Wilt Chamberlain, dominating the offensive boards, led everybody with 26 points. Gail Goodrich added 25.

Chamberlain also controlled the defensive boards, along with Happy Hairston. Each of them hauled down 20 rebounds.

But West reached a plateau of his own. With 3:08 remaining, he canned a long jumper to become the first player in NBA history to pass the 4,000-point mark in playoff games.

"That signifies two or three things," the star guard said of his feat—4,001 points in 133 post-season contests—"that I've been in a lot of playoff games, that this is a good team to get me in them—and that I shoot a lot."

The Knicks were led by Walt Frazier with 25 points and Jerry Lucas with 23. But Dave Debusschere, who played 20 minutes, all in the first half, despite a pulled muscle in his right side above the hip, went scoreless.

NCAA Chief Urges Solons To Reject Cage Merger

WASHINGTON (AP) — All professional sports should be subject to antitrust law, "and let nature take its course," Walter Byers told a Senate subcommittee Wednesday.

Byers, executive director of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, said Congress could then "consider the merits... specific practices" which could be exempt from the antitrust laws.

"The public-be-damned attitude so often attributed to professional sports is a direct result of its freedom from many basic restraints imposed by the antitrust laws," he said.

Byers was joined by two economists in calling for the Senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee to vote against a pending bill which would allow the American Basketball Association and the National Basketball Association to merge.

In a somewhat surprising move, several other heads of amateur sports organizations backed the merger measure but asked that some safeguards be written into the bill.

"A merger of the two professional leagues might result in a positive atmosphere for basketball at the collegiate level if certain considerations are provided for," said Bill Wall, athletic director and basketball coach at MacMurray College and president of the National Association of Basketball Coaches.

"We hope that any legislation in this area will provide... that no professional basketball game telecasts be permitted on Tuesday, Friday or Saturday; and that once a student-athlete enrolls... that he not be tampered with or signed to a professional contract until that academic year is completed."

Wall also asked the warring pro leagues to cooperate "during an Olympic year to insure that the finest eligible U.S. players be available to represent our country in international competition."

Derby Nears For Leading 3-Year-Olds

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — "It just takes racing luck to win the derby," says Grover Stevens who trains Sensitive Music.

From 14 to 19 3-year-old Thoroughbreds are expected to try their luck and test their ability Saturday in the 98th running of the Kentucky Derby.

Entries were scheduled to close at 9:30 a.m., EDT, today. Post time for the 1 1/4-mile, $25,000-added Derby is 5:40 p.m., EDT, Saturday, with television coverage from 5 p.m. to 6 p.m. and radio coverage from 5:45 p.m. to 6 p.m., both by CBS.

"He's improving every day," Stephens said of Sensitive Music Wednesday and added that if the colt can stay out of trouble he has a good shot.

Arnold Winick, trainer of Hold Your Peace who is the second early favorite to Riva Ridge, also thinks Sensitive Music is a horse to watch.

"Sensitive Music has put two races together in the right way coming up to the Derby," Winick said. Sensitive Music ran fourth in 1 1/16-mile allowance race at Kenneland and then finished second to Riva Ridge in the 1 1/8-mile Blue Grass in his last start.

Of course, Winick has more than just an opposing trainer's interest in Sensitive Music. The colt's sire, Sensitive, stands at Winick's Delray training center in Florida.

Bill Doehrmann of Fort Wayne, Ind., has competed in the last 62 American Bowling Congress tournaments.

Indy 500 Practice Continues

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Mario Andretti and Peter Revson were ready to make their first appearances on the track today in practice for the May 27 Indianapolis 500-mile race.

Andretti, the 1969 winner, and Revson, last year's pole sitter, returned here Wednesday from the Spanish Grand Prix.

Revson still holds the official Indianapolis Speedway track record at just over 179 miles an hour. But a number of drivers have eclipsed the 180 m.p.h. mark already this year.

Bobby Unser set an unofficial record last month during tire tests with a sizzling speed of over 190.

Two more drivers joined the 180 m.p.h. club Wednesday—Gary Bettenhausen, at 181.4, and Gordon Johncock, at 180.036.

The fastest speed of the day was by Jim Malloy who ripped off a 185.5 clocking in his Offenhauser-powered racer.

Unser drove his Gurney-Eagle at 183.3, while his brother Al, winner of the last two Indy 500s, was clocked at 181.2.

In all, 23 cars made it out on the track Wednesday, including a Page Racing Eagle driven by rookie Mike Hiss, whose 176.3 clocking was the fastest speed ever recorded at the Speedway by a first-year driver.

Pirates Wake Up, Turn Back Astros, 3-2

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
Any resemblance between the Pittsburgh Pirates of 1972 and the world champions of 1971 has been purely coincidental... until Wednesday night.

After their pitching staff was battered in six straight games, all losses, the Pirates snapped out of their doldrums with a 3-2 victory over the Houston Astros on the six-hit hurling of Dock Ellis and Bruce Kison and Renie Stennett's two-run triple.

"Just because you win one game doesn't take any heat off," said freshman manager Bill Virdon, "but it's always nice to break the ice."

Elsewhere in the National League, the New York Mets whipped San Francisco 8-5, the Chicago Cubs trounced Atlanta 12-1, Philadelphia cut down Los Angeles 5-1, St. Louis edged Cincinnati 2-1 and San Diego nipped Montreal 3-2 in 14 innings.

Pittsburgh nipped Houston starter Jerry Reuss for an unearned run in the first inning when Dave Cash walked, stole second, went to third on shortstop Roger Metzger's error and scored on Manny Sanguillen's sacrifice fly.

Stennett, normally an infielder but stationed in left field for ailing slugger Willie Stargell, tripled in the second following Richie Hebner's single and another walk to Cash.

Ellis, meanwhile, looked sharp in his first appearance since he injured his heel April 20 and kept the Astros scoreless until the sixth, when Metzger doubled and Lee May singled.

Kison, a World Series hero, was touched for a run in the seventh on John Edwards' single, a wild pitch and Norm Mille's pinch double, but the youngster slammed the door after that.

The Giants concluded one of the worst home stands in San Francisco's major league history with a 2-1 record by losing to the Mets. Tommie Agee led the New York attack with two doubles and a run-scoring single while Jim Fregosi and Ted Martinez each tripled.

Rookie Jon Matlack won his third game in a row but was kayoed in a three-run eighth, featuring Dave Kingman's two-run triple.

The Cubs clobbered Atlanta 12-1 for the second straight game as Jose Cardenal drove in five runs with a triple, double and two singles, Billy Williams cracked a three-run homer and Jim Hickman delivered a solo shot.

Fergie Jenkins hurled a six-hitter to even his record at 2-2.

Steve Carlton pitched a six-hitter and Don Money provided the game-winning hit with a two-run double in the fourth inning as Philadelphia topped Los Angeles.

Lolich, Tigers Defeat Royals, 6-1

this year that he is no Mickey Mouse.
The Detroit pitcher, who thought he should have been the Cy Young Award winner last season instead of Oakland's Vida Blue, is making a case for himself in 1972.

"I've developed great confidence," Lolich said Wednesday night after winning his fourth game in five decisions by beating the Kansas City Royals 6-1.

"His arm never wears out," said Detroit pitching coach Art Fowler, one of Lolich's prime boosters. "He's amazing, really amazing. I still think he should have won the Cy Young Award last year and everyone knows that he should have won it."

That included Lolich himself, who claimed that Blue won the award as the American League's top pitcher because of an unusual amount of publicity. Blue, who just signed his contract with Oakland after a long holdout, is already behind Lolich's early-season credentials that include 4-3 and 1-3 innings, the most innings pitched in the American League. The Tiger southpaw has 31 strikeouts and four complete games in his five starts this year, too.

In Wednesday night's other American League games, the Minnesota Twins stopped the Milwaukee Brewers 7-0 and the Cleveland Indians defeated the Texas Rangers 2-1. Rain washed out three games—California at New York, Chicago at Baltimore and Oakland at Boston.

Rookie sensation Bob Darwin drove in four runs, three on his sixth home run of the year, and Bert Blyleven pitched a four-hitter as Minnesota drubbed Milwaukee. Darwin hit his home run off relief pitcher Jim Colborn in the eighth inning after singles by Rod Carew and Harmon Killebrew.

Milt Wilcox pitched a five-hitter and the Cleveland Indians scored unearned runs in the second and sixth innings to defeat Texas.

"We're starting to play the brand of ball I've been preaching since spring training," said Cleveland Manager Ken Aspromonte. "I believe in being very aggressive. That's what won it for us tonight—we forced errors out of the opposition with our good, hard slides."

NCAA Chief Urges Solons To Reject Cage Merger

WASHINGTON (AP) — All professional sports should be subject to antitrust law, "and let nature take its course," Walter Byers told a Senate subcommittee Wednesday.

Byers, executive director of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, said Congress could then "consider on the merits... specific practices" which could be exempt from the antitrust laws.

"The public-be-damned attitude so often attributed to professional sports is a direct result of its freedom from many basic restraints imposed by the antitrust laws," he said.

Byers was joined by two economists in calling for the Senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee to vote against a pending bill which would allow the American Basketball Association and the National Basketball Association to merge.

In a somewhat surprising move, several other heads of amateur sports organizations backed the merger measure but asked that some safeguards be written into the bill.

"A merger of the two professional leagues might result in a positive atmosphere for basketball at the collegiate level if certain considerations are provided for," said Bill Wall, athletic director and basketball coach at MacMurray College and president of the National Association of Basketball Coaches.

"We hope that any legislation in this area will provide... that no professional basketball game telecasts be permitted on Tuesday, Friday or Saturday; and that once a student-athlete enrolls... that he not be tampered with or signed to a professional contract until his academic year is completed."

Wall also asked the warring pro leagues to cooperate "during an Olympic year to insure that the finest eligible U.S. players be available to represent our country in international competition."

off," said freshman manager Bill Virdon, "but it's always nice to break the ice."

Elsewhere in the National League, the New York Mets whipped San Francisco 8-5, the Chicago Cubs trounced Atlanta 12-1, Philadelphia cut down Los Angeles 5-1, St. Louis edged Cincinnati 2-1 and San Diego nipped Montreal 3-2 in 14 innings.

Pittsburgh nipped Houston starter Jerry Reuss for an unearned run in the first inning when Dave Cash walked, stole second, went to third on shortstop Roger Metzger's error and scored on Manny Sanguillen's sacrifice fly.

Stennett, normally an infielder but stationed in left field for ailing slugger Willie Stargell, tripled in the second following Richie Hebner's single and another walk to Cash.

Ellis, meanwhile, looked sharp in his first appearance since he injured his heel April 20 and kept the Astros scoreless until the sixth, when Metzger doubled and Lee May singled.

Kison, a World Series hero, was touched for a run in the seventh on John Edwards' single, a wild pitch and Norm Miller's pinch double, but the youngster slammed the door after that.

The Giants concluded one of the worst home stands in San Francisco's major league history with a 2-1 record by losing to the Mets. Tommie Agee led the New York attack with two doubles and a run-scoring single while Jim Fregosi and Ted Martinez each tripled.

Fergie Jenkins hurled a six-hitter to even his record at 2-2. Steve Carlton pitched a six-hitter and Don Money provided the game-winning hit with a two-run double in the fourth inning as Philadelphia topped Los Angeles.

Carlton struck out nine Dodgers enroute to his fourth victory in five decisions this year. He got all the support he needed when Money came through with a bases-loaded double in the fourth, scoring Tim McCarver and Willie Montanez.

Ed Crosby's two-run single in the fourth inning and Reggie Cleveland's clutch pitching enabled St. Louis to turn back Cincinnati. The Reds, who scored in the top of the fourth, on Johnny Bench's home run, blew a golden chance in the ninth.

A double by Bench and Tony Perez' bloop single put runners at first and third with none out. But Cesar Geronimo, running for Bench, was trapped off third on Ted Uhlaender's grounder to second and run down.

Leron Lee greeted reliever Denny Lemaster with a run-scoring single in the 14th inning, giving San Diego its win over Montreal. Lemaster relieved Tom Walker after Enzo Hernandez stole second, but Lee singled home the winning run.

Clay Kirby, the San Diego starter, pitched six hitless innings before Ron Hunt doubled leading off the seventh.

Salt Fork Lake Park Set To Open Officially Sunday

CAMBRIDGE, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's newest vacation facility at Salt Fork State Park, billed by officials as one of the finest in the nation, opens officially with ceremonies Sunday.

The opening culminates 17 years of planning and work and expenditure of $20 million in tax money and bond revenue to develop the state's largest park.

Scheduled for opening are a 148 room rustic lodge; 54, four-room housekeeping cabins; a course and pro shop, plus other related facilities.

"This facility, surrounded by such a lovely state park, compares favorably with any in the nation, and is one which all Ohioans can point to with pride," said Gov. John Gilligan, who will participate in Sunday's ceremonies.

"The lodge, cabins, park and the multitude of recreational opportunities are evidence of first-rate facilities for its citizens," the governor added.

The lodge will be open to the public all day Sunday, with guided tours being provided. Officials expect 10,000 persons to attend the ceremonies.

The lodge and cabins are on a peninsula jutting into the south branch of the 2,952-acre Salt Fork Reservoir.

Built primarily with stone and rough-hewn Douglas fir timbers, the lodge features indoor and outdoor swimming pools, dining area for 300, coffee shop, games room and an arts and crafts room.

Each cabin has two bedrooms, a complete kitchen, living room with hide-a-bed sofa and screened-in porch.

Turks Reject Hijack Terms

ISTANBUL (AP) — The Turkish government has rejected demands by terrorists holding a hijacked airliner and its 63 passengers hostage in Sofia, Bulgaria, the semi-official Anatolia News Agency reported today.

The agency, citing "unofficial sources," said the hijackers' demands had been "totally rejected" at an emergency meeting of the Cabinet and the National Security Council.

An official statement issued at the end of the meeting said only that the government was "making every effort to avoid the loss of even a single life."

An official source in Ankara said the hijackers had set a deadline of noon ET for the acceptance of the demands.

The Turkish Airlines DC9 was hijacked during a flight from Ankara to Istanbul Wednesday. Turkish Embassy officials continued today to negotiate with a spokesman for the hijackers at Sofia airport.

Demo Solons Push Tax Reform Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Saying the changes they propose are "ripe for floor action," four Democratic congressmen announced Wednesday they will submit an amendment aimed at "plugging two of the more outrageous loopholes in the federal tax system."

Reps. Charles Vanik, Ohio; Henry Reuss, Wis.; Donald M. Fraser, Minn., and David R. Obey, Wis., said their proposals would raise another $5 billion to $6 billion.

The bill they will try to amend, a substitute for President Nixon's revenue sharing proposal, would distribute $5.3 million a year to local governments.

The House Rules Committee is scheduled to consider it next week and, if it follows the usual practice, to bar any amendments.

The congressmen's proposals — Abolish the Asset Depreciation Range, a speeded up depreciation system instituted last year by the Treasury and later ratified by Congress.

—Revise the minimum income tax Congress included in the 1969 tax reform law as a catchall provision intended to make sure that well-to-do citizens paid some tax, regardless of tax preferences they enjoyed.

—Increase the rate and reduce the deductions applying to the minimum tax to increase its yield $2 billion to $3 billion.

Official Defends Limited-License Medics In Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Foreign doctors and medical assistants employed in state mental hospital work only under the supervision of licensed physicians, an Ohio official said Tuesday.

W. H. Davis, assistant director of mental health, was responding to criticism by two psychiatrists of the National Institute of Mental Health that Ohio and many states take advantage of legal loopholes to staff mental hospitals with unlicensed doctors.

Davis said 14 foreign doctors practice under limited licenses in state hospitals pending qualification to take state medical examinations and 112 medical assistants operate under "very, very limited" conditions.

The foreign doctors and medical assistants, he said, represent 29 per cent of the state psychiatric medical staff. And they work under the supervision of the state's 212 fully-licensed physicians and 93 resident physicians, Davis added.

Delta Queen Loses Race, But Wins Boy's Own Contest

By KIT KINCADE
Associated Press Writer
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Eight-year-old Geoffrey Miller brought the Delta Queen home to victory in the steamboat race with a play worthy of Tom Sawyer or Huck Finn.

He moved the finish line ahead by two miles. "Is the race over yet," he asked, as he raced from one side of the Queen to the other. Geoff was told that both the Delta Queen and the Belle of Louisville had already crossed the official finish line and that the Queen had finished second by about a length Wednesday night in the annual battle between the two steam-powered stern wheelers.

The larger and powerful Queen lost its lead when the more maneuverable Belle had executed the upstream turn tightly and came out ahead.

The Queen had steadily been gaining its lost ground as the two raced towards the finish. The news didn't bother Geoff at all.

"I'm having a little race of my own," he said, pointing a finger towards the railroad bridge ahead.

"The first boat under the bridge will win my race," he said confidently. "The other race? That's another story."

Geoff's eager blue eyes darted from one side of the prow to the other as it cut through the muddy, dusk-darkened waters of the Ohio.

It was his first ride on paddle wheeler racing at full speed against another old steamer.

"There are two things I like best about it," he said. "Watching the water go by and watching the paddle wheel."

Geoff, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rex L. Miller of Muncie, Ind., said his mother was riding on the Belle of Louisville.

Wallace . . .

gates to the Democratic National Convention.

Tennessee would be Wallace's first primary victory outside the Deep South and he predicts it will be a springboard to a northern breakthrough in Michigan May 16.

On the crowded Democratic ballot with him were Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, Sen. George McGovern, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie and seven others. President Nixon and Reps. Paul N. McCloskey and John M. Ashbrook were on the Republican side. Nixon was expected to win by a wide margin.

Crossover voting by Republicans was expected to help Wallace and was one reason given by potential Democratic convention delegates who are hinting they may not vote for Wallace at the Miami Beach convention even if he carries Tennessee.

Delegates, although technically bound by the primary results for up to two ballots, are selected separately in caucuses which have been dominated so far by McGovern supporters, blacks, women and youth.

The busing referendum asks the voters if they favor a constitutional amendment to ban busing for the sake of racial balance in public schools.

Wallace has gone virtually unchallenged in Tennessee. Humphrey had not campaigned here. McGovern has not visited the state but has local organizations. Sen. Henry M. Jackson was building a promising campaign last winter but left for good when Wallace moved in. Rep. Shirley Chisholm has campaigned for the large black vote in Memphis.

The jurors had the option of giving Ana's death by gas sentence or life in prison, but failed to agree on a penalty resulting in the automatic life sentence.

The RNA has the avowed purpose of establishing a separate black nation in five southern states.

Ana was he first of 11 persons to stand trial in the case. Seven of the other 10 yet to be tried also are accused of murder.

Job Training Program Slated

WASHINGTON (AP)—A total of 2,200 persons in 15 states—including 150 in Ohio—will be trained for jobs in auto, aerospace, agricultural implement and related industries under a $2 million contract between the United Auto Workers and the Labor Department.

On-the-job training will range from six to 40 weeks for various jobs. Trainees will earn from $2.25 to $7 per hour, depending on the skill level.

Labor Secretary J. D. Hodgson said the contract specifies that at least 40 per cent of the trainees be Vietnam veterans, and another 600 be selected from severely-disadvantaged persons.

Urge Federal Vote Center

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. Rep. William Keating, R-Cincinnati, Wednesday urged speedy action on his proposal to establish a national information center for election administration.

Keating said such a center would help prevent election problems such as those experienced in Cleveland Tuesday during the Ohio primary.

"The foulup in Cleveland," Keating said, "is the most recent example of a serious breakdown occurring on election day. Election day is a most important day in any democratic nation."

"When government fails to function sufficiently on this day," he said, "a tremendous credibility gap occurs between the government and the people."

Keating said his amendment to the recently passed election reform bill would instruct the comptroller general to set up a national election administration information center.

Demo Solons Push Tax Reform Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Saying the changes they propose are "ripe for floor action," four Democratic congressmen announced Wednesday they will submit an amendment aimed at "plugging two of the more outrageous loopholes in the federal tax system."

Reps. Charles Vanik, Ohio; Henry Reuss, Wis.; Donald M. Fraser, Minn., and David R. Obey, Wis., said their proposals would raise another $5 billion to $6 billion.

The bill they will try to amend, a substitute for President Nixon's revenue sharing proposal, would distribute $5.3 million a year to local governments.

The House Rules Committee is scheduled to consider it next week and, if it follows the usual practice, to bar any amendment.

The congressmen's proposals — Abolish the Asset Depreciation Range, a speeded up depreciation system instituted last year by the Treasury and later ratified by Congress.

—Revise the minimum income tax Congress included in the 1969 tax reform law as a catchall provision intended to make sure that well-to-do citizens paid some tax, regardless of tax preferences they enjoyed.

—Increase the rate and reduce the deductions applying to the minimum tax to increase its yield $2 billion to $3 billion.

Official Defends Limited-License Medics In Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Foreign doctors and medical assistants employed in state mental hospital work only under the supervision of licensed physicians, an Ohio official said Tuesday.

W. H. Davis, assistant director of mental health, was responding to criticism by two psychiatrists of the National Institute of Mental Health that Ohio and many states take advantage of legal loopholes to staff mental hospitals with unlicensed doctors.

Davis said 14 foreign doctors practice under limited licenses in state hospitals pending qualification to take state medical examinations and 112 medical assistants operate under "very, very limited" conditions.

The foreign doctors and medical assistants, he said, represent 29 per cent of the state psychiatric medical staff. And they work under the supervision of the state's 212 fully-licensed physicians and 93 resident physicians, Davis added.

Delta Queen Loses Race, But Wins Boy's Own Contest

By KIT KINCADE
Associated Press Writer
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Eight-year-old Geoffrey Miller brought the Delta Queen home to victory in the steamboat race with a play worthy of Tom Sawyer or Huck Finn.

He moved the finish line ahead by two miles.

"Is the race over yet," he asked, as he raced from one side of the Queen to the other. Geoff was told that both the Delta Queen and the Belle of Louisville had already crossed the official finish line and that the Queen had finished second by about a length Wednesday night in the annual battle between the two steam-powered stern wheelers.

The larger and powerful Queen lost its lead when the more maneuverable Belle had executed the upstream turn tightly and came out ahead. The Queen had steadily been gaining its lost ground as the two raced towards the finish.

The news didn't bother Geoff at all.

"I'm having a little race of my own," he said, pointing a finger towards the railroad bridge ahead.

gates to the Democratic National Convention.

Tennessee would be Wallace's first primary victory outside the Deep South and he predicts it will be a springboard to a northern breakthrough in Michigan May 16.

On the crowded Democratic ballot with him were Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, Sen. George McGovern, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie and seven others. President Nixon and Reps. Paul N. McCloskey and John M. Ashbrook were on the Republican side. Nixon was expected to win by a wide margin.

Crossover voting by Republicans was expected to help Wallace and was one reason given by potential Democratic convention delegates who are hinting they may not vote for Wallace at the Miami Beach convention even if he carries Tennessee.

Delegates, although technically bound by the primary results for up to two ballots, are selected separately in caucuses which have been dominated so far by McGovern supporters, blacks, women and youth.

The busing referendum asks the voters if they favor a constitutional amendment to ban busing for the sake of racial balance in public schools.

Wallace has gone virtually unchallenged in Tennessee. Humphrey had not campaigned here. McGovern has not visited the state but has local organizations. Sen. Henry M. Jackson was building a promising campaign last winter but left for good when Wallace moved in. Rep. Shirley Chisholm has campaigned for the large black vote in Memphis.

Actor Bruce Cabot Dies

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Bruce Cabot, who played the hero in "King Kong" but never reached stardom in 40 years of filmmaking, has died of cancer. Cabot, 68, rose to fame in the 1930s science fiction classic and was active in films until late last year when he entered the Motion Picture Country Home and Hospital in nearby Woodland Hills for treatment of lung and throat cancer. He died Wednesday.

His more than 300 film roles included a feature part in "Last of the Mohicans" and a recent small part in the James Bond adventure "Diamonds Are Forever."

bridge will win my race," he said confidently. "The other race? That's another story."

Geoff's eager blue eyes darted from one side of the prow to the other as it cut through the muddy, dusk-darkened waters of the Ohio.

Urge Federal Vote Center

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. Rep. William Keating, R-Cincinnati, Wednesday urged speedy action on his proposal to establish a national information center for election administration.

Keating said such a center would help prevent election problems such as those experienced in Cleveland Tuesday during the Ohio primary.

"The foulup in Cleveland," Keating said, "is the most recent example of a serious breakdown occurring on election day. Election day is a most important day in any democratic nation."

"When government fails to function sufficiently on this day," he said, "a tremendous credibility gap occurs between the government and the people."

Keating said his amendment to the recently passed election reform bill would instruct the comptroller general to set up a national election administration information center.

New Africa Leader Gets Life Term

JACKSON, Miss (AP) — The Midwest vice president of the black separatist republic of New Africa faces life imprisonment on his conviction of murder in the slaying of a white Jackson policeman.

Thomas Norman, 27, of Milwaukee, Wis., was found guilty of the charge Wednesday night by a jury of 11 whites and one Negro. Circuit Court Judge Russel Moore imposed the sentence after the jury reported it could not agree on the penalty.

Norman, who prefers to be known as Hekim Ana, was accused in the fatal shooting of Jackson police detective William Louis Skinner. The officer was felled by gunfire during a police raid at the Republic of New Africa headquarters here Aug. 18.

The jurors had the option of giving Ana's death by gas sentence or life in prison, but failure to agree on a penalty resulted in the automatic life sentence.

The RNA has the avowed purpose of establishing a separate black nation in five southern states.

Ana was the first of 11 persons to stand trial in the case. Seven of the other 10 yet to be tried also are accused of murder.

Job Training Program Slated

WASHINGTON (AP)—A total of 2,200 persons in 15 states—including 150 in Ohio—will be trained for jobs in auto, aerospace, agricultural implement and related industries under a $2 million contract between the United Auto Workers and the Labor Department.

On-the-job training will range from six to 40 weeks for various jobs. Trainees will earn from $2.25 to $7 per hour, depending on the skill level.

Labor Secretary J. D. Hodgson said the contract specifies that at least 40 per cent of the trainees be Vietnam veterans, and another 600 be selected from severely-disadvantaged persons.
